TAXMEN TO CHECK FREEBIES, LIQUOR BY CANDIDATES DURING ELECTIONS

The Central Board of Indirect Taxes and Customs has asked tax officers to implement the Election Commission's directions on the use of freebies

TO MONITOR CANDIDATES' EXPENDITURE

The CBIC has issued a set of instructions to officials on tracking illegitimate means used by candidates to lure voters. Among other things, taxmen will monitor the distribution of coupons, free fuel and cash in poll-bound areas. They will also keep a tab on fuel consumption by candidates and parties, and closely monitor their expenditure on food, hotels, parties, tent houses, etc

INFO TO BE SHARED WITH OTHER AGENCIES

- The information will also be shared with other enforcement agencies
- The GST officers would keep an extensive check on restaurant/eateries, marriage hall/ farm houses/ slaughter house/ in the poll-bound area
- The GST and Customs officials will also set up flying squads and static surveillance teams for the effective conduct of road and transit checks

NORTH INDIA RAINS KILL 61 MORE

17 dead in Himachal Pradesh, over 300 tourists stranded in the state, property loss estimated at ₹3,000-4,000 cr

HARPREET BAJWA AND NAMITA BAJPAI @ Chandigarh/Lucknow

AT least 61 more people were reported dead across North India following incessant rains, flashfloods and lightning strikes on Monday, 34 of them in Uttar Pradesh and 17 in Himachal Pradesh, which is the worst affected state so far.

More than 300 tourists are stranded in Himachal's Lahaul-Spiti district amid snowfall. Efforts are on to rescue them. Rains hampered the clearing of massive landslides that snapped road links. The tourists have been put up in hotels and government accommodations by the local administration. Besides, tourists and locals in two state roadways buses have been stuck following a flashflood in the Pagal nullah near Sissu village in the Lahaul Valley as it blocked the Manali-Leh highway.

The initial estimate of property loss in Himachal Pradesh is around ₹3,000-4,000 crore.

The overall toll in the North included six in Haryana and four in Punjab. In UP, 17 got electrocuted due to lightning while 12 drowned. Besides, there were five other rain-related deaths in the state.

Most rivers in the North were swollen, with the Yamuna in Delhi, too, crossing the danger mark following release of water from the Hathnikund barrage in Haryana.

Prime Minister Narendra Modi spoke to Himachal Chief Minister Sukhvinder Singh Sukhu and assured all support.

The Centre deployed 39 National Disaster Response Force teams — 14 in Punjab, 12 in Himachal, eight in Uttarakhand and five in Haryana — for the rescue and relief operations.

Sukhu said efforts were underway to evacuate the stranded tourists and residents in Lahaul-Spiti and Kullu districts using helicopters whenever the weather permits.

In Himachal, five persons were killed in the Nirmand area of Kullu district while five others died in Shimla district in two different landslides. Also, the Shimla-Kalka highway was blocked near Shoghi due to a landslide. Besides, rail operations on the Shimla-Kalka rail track were suspended as landslides blocked the track.

In Punjab, floodwaters entered the Nabha Thermal Power Plant near Rajpura in Patiala forcing the shutdown of one of its 700 MW units.

Gokak: Two persons, including a woman, were washed away after their two-wheeler skidded on an overflowing bridge and fell into the Ghataprabha River. The incident happened on the outskirts of Auradi village in Belagavi district on Monday. Search operation to trace Chenappa Harijan (38) and Durgani Harijan (35) is on.

Foxconn pulls out of semiconductor joint venture with Vedanta

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

IN a setback to the Centre's efforts to draw investment in the semiconductor sector and make India a chip-manufacturing hub, Taiwan-based electronic giant Foxconn on Monday pulled out of its joint venture with Vedanta.

The development comes in the wake of the joint venture's failure to onboard a technology partner to manufacture nano chips. According to industry sources, high cost estimates and the government's own delay in approving incentives also influenced Foxconn's decision.

The JV had initially submitted an application to manufacture 28-nanometre chips, but the government rejected it as the JV could not source a tech partner. The venture later filed an application for 40-nm chips, which is being evaluated.

Foxconn, the contract manufacturer of Apple's iPhones, and Anil Agarwal's Vedanta last year announced ₹1.6 lakh crore investment to set up semiconductor and display production plants in Gujarat. They formed a joint venture with Vedanta holding 60% stake and Foxconn the rest. Last week, Vedanta took full ownership of the JV.

"Foxconn is working to remove the Foxconn name from what now is a fully-owned entity of Vedanta," a Foxconn statement read. The company, though, maintained that it will continue to support India's Make-In-India ambitions.

> It is well known that both companies have no prior semiconductor experience or technology and were expected to source fab technology from tech partners
>
> —Rajeev Chandrasekhar, MoS, Electronics and IT

Meanwhile, Vedanta claimed it has lined up other partners. "We will continue to grow our semiconductor team, and we have the licence for production-grade technology for 40 nm from a prominent integrated device manufacturer," said a Vedanta spokesperson, adding that the company will shortly acquire a licence for production-grade 28 nm as well.

Meanwhile, the government said the pullout won't impact India's semiconductor journey. Telecom minister Ashwini Vaishnaw said both the firms remain committed to India's semiconductor mission and make in India programme.

Reading down 370 gave J&K peace, prosperity, progress, govt tells SC

SHRUTI KAKKAR @ New Delhi

OPPOSING a batch of pleas challenging the reading down Article 370 of the Constitution in 2019, which had granted special status to Jammu and Kashmir, the Centre on Monday told the Supreme Court that the step had brought unprecedented development, progress, security and stability to the region, which was missing during the old Article 370 regime.

A Constitution bench of the Supreme Court will on Tuesday begin its hearing on the matter.

"After the historic changes, the UTs of Jammu and Kashmir and Ladakh have witnessed profound ameliorative, affirmative and progressive changes in last four years encompassing its entire governance — including the developmental activities, public administration and security matters which has positively impacted every resident irrespective of caste, creed or religion," the affidavit stated.

The entire region since 2019 has witnessed peace, progress and prosperity, it claimed, adding life has returned to normalcy after over three decades of turmoil. "Schools, colleges, universities, hospitals and other public institutions are functioning efficiently without any strikes or any kind of disturbances during the last three years."

It further claimed that organised stone pelting incidents, which were as high as 1,767 in 2018, came down to zero so far this year. "Resolute anti-terror actions have resulted in dismantling of the terror eco-system which is reflected in a significant drop in terrorist recruitment from 199 in the year 2018 to 12 in the year 2023 till date," the affidavit states.

Referring to the G-20 meeting in Sringar in May, the Centre described it as a watershed event, saying it showed how the region could be converted into one where even international dignitaries could be invited and global events held.

Grassroots democracy

The Centre's affidavit said major steps have been taken to strengthen grassroots democracy in J&K like establishing a three-tier panchayati raj system there

Parameshwara rules out CBI probe into Jain monk's murder

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru/Hubballi

HOME Minister G Parameshwara on Monday ruled out a CBI probe into the murder of Jain monk Kamkumar Nandi Maharaj of Nandi Parvat Ashram in Belagavi district.

The state police are capable of investigating the case and they have already arrested the accused, Dr Parameshwara told reporters in Hubballi.

He said there is no question of shielding anybody. A thorough investigation will be conducted.

Dr Parameshwara visited Jain monk Gunadhar Nandi Maharaj of Varur Navagraha Teerthakshetra, who had launched a hunger strike seeking protection for Jain monks. The monk withdrew his protest after the home minister promised security to Jain monks and stringent action against those involved in the case. The government will issue a notification on providing security to the monks soon, he added.

> Police have taken action within the purview of law. Instead of giving a political colour to such incidents, leaders in responsible positions should assist the government in unearthing the truth
>
> G Parameshwara, Home Minister

Meanwhile, in the legislative Assembly and Council, Opposition BJP legislators demanded that the government recommend a CBI probe into the case. Former chief minister Basavaraj Bommai alleged that law and order situation in the state is deteriorating fast.

Besides Bommai, leaders Abhay Kumar Patil, Basanagouda Patil Yatnal, Siddu Savadi, Sunil Kumar, Shashikal Jolle and Araga Jnanendra raised the issue during 'Zero Hour'.

Centre likely to exempt tribals from UCC ambit

NEW DELHI: Under pressure from tribal communities from various parts of India including the northeastern states, the Centre is likely to exclude indigenous groups from the ambit of the proposed Uniform Civil Code (UCC). A highly placed source told this newspaper that the customs and traditions of the tribal communities, which are protected under the Constitution, will not be taken away under the UCC that the government proposes to bring in.

The development comes on the heels of Union Home Minister Amit Shah's meeting with a 12-member Naga delegation last week. Nagaland Chief Minister Neiphiu Rio, who led the delegation, said Shah assured them that the Law Commission is considering excluding the Christian community and some tribals from the legislation.

Anna Bhagya: Siddu, DKS launch online cash transfer

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

THE state government launched cash transfer under its ambitious Anna Bhagya scheme on Monday.

The government is giving Rs 170 per month for each beneficiary along with 5kg rice. Chief Minister Siddaramaiah and Deputy CM DK Shivakumar launched the scheme symbolically by transfering money online to beneficiaries' bank accounts. "From Tuesday, cash will be transferred to beneficiaries across the state. Money will be sent through DBT to all beneficiaries," the CM said.

Anna Bhagya is not a new scheme. "It was launched in 2013. We had stated the same in our manifesto then. Soon after assuming power, we announced Anna Bhagya," he said. P4

Kasturirangan's condition stable

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

FORMER ISRO chairman and Padma Vibhushan awardee Dr K Kasturirangan, who suffered a heart attack while he was in Sri Lanka on Sunday night, was airlifted to Bengaluru and admitted to Narayana Health on Monday night. The flight from Colombo landed at HAL Airport and he was rushed to Narayana Health amid high security. Sources at Narayana Health said Kasturirangan is being treated by cardiologist Dr Devi Shetty and his team. The 83-year-old scientist's condition is said to be stable.

CM Siddaramaiah tweeted, "Sad to know that Indian Space Scientist Shri Kasturirangan has suffered a heart attack in Sri Lanka. I wish him a speedy recovery."

Mangalurean to spend ₹50L to relocate building

VINCENT D'SOUZA @ Mangaluru

A 25-year-old commercial complex here is being lifted and moved to a new place at a cost of Rs 50 lakh! Part of the two-storied complex of G Rajesh Pai at Gurupura-Kaikamba near Mangaluru was marked for demolition to widen NH 169 between Mangaluru and Karkala some time ago.

Work on shifting the complex 130 feet away from its present location is on. Around 6,000 sqft area of the complex was marked for demolition. The complex could have been saved by cutting this area. But if this is done, there will be no space for parking vehicles. Moreover, Pai was reluctant to cut the front portion of the complex because of his attachment with it.

"Sri Sudheendra Thirtha Swami, whom I revere a lot, inaugurated the complex in 1999. The seer told me that nothing will happen to the building, and his words sounded cryptic to me then," Pai said.

He said that he learnt about the technology to shift buildings after meeting some civil engineers. He also visited Koppal, Siraguppa and Mangaluru to hear from building owners who had done it.

"Finally, I gathered courage and decided to save my building. Construction of a similar building would cost me more than Rs 1 crore. Whereas to shift it, I would be spending Rs 50 lakh," Pai said.

The building near Mangaluru which is being shifted to a new location | EXPRESS

The shifting work started a week ago and it will take at least three months for the building's relocation.

Vishal Rana, a civil engineer with Haryana-based HSBL Building Solutions Pvt Ltd, which is carrying out the task, said the building will be lifted for about two feet using jacks and then moved to the new location using rail tracks placed underneath it. At the new location, a foundation will be built afresh to place the old structure on it.

Boy trapped on 10th floor balcony rescued

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Udupi

AN eight-year-old special child, who jumped from the balcony of the 11th floor of an apartment and got stuck on the safety grill on the 10th floor, was rescued by personnel from the Fire and Emergency Services Department here on Monday.

Aarush, the boy, was saved after an hour-long rescue operation at the apartment in Brahmagiri.

Sathish N, fire station officer, told TNIE that his team members used a hydraulic cutter to cut open the iron safety grill on the 10th floor to reach the boy at the window panel.

He said the department received a distress call around 11.40 am and its personnel rushed to Brahmagiri. On reaching the spot, the team members learnt that the boy, who resides on the 11th floor flat, had locked his bedroom and through the balcony he jumped down. A neighbour, who noticed the boy on the safety grill, alerted the boy's parents.

Will connect Yelahanka to Hosur Road, Mehkri Circle to Cantonment

FIRST PHASE OF TUNNEL ROAD MAY COST Rs 22,000 CRORE

MOHAMMED YACOOB @Bengaluru

ENGINEERS from AECOM India, an international design consulting firm, have held two meetings with Deputy Chief Minister and Bengaluru Development Minister DK Shivakumar to discuss tunnel road projects to ease traffic congestion in Bengaluru.

Under Phase-1, the tunnel road will connect Yelahanka to the Central Silk Board under North to South Corridor and Mekhri Circle to Cantonment under the East-West Corridor (KR Puram to Cantonment). The 50 km roads will cost approximately Rs 22,000 crore at Rs 450 crore per kilometre.

Representatives of AECOM India said they presented a model for North-South Corridor connecting Yelahanka-Hosur Road through Hebbal, Mekhri Circle, Cantonment, Kasturba Road and Central Silk Board covering 27 km. Similarly, another presentation was made for East-West Corridor-1 from Bhatarahalli (KR Puram) to Mekhri Circle connecting the North South Corridor and covering a distance of around 20km. The remaining part of East West Corridor 1, East West Corridor 2 and Central Corridors between St John's Hospital Junction to Agara on Outer Ring Road, Ulsoor to D'souza Circle and Wheeler's Road junction to Kalyan Nagar will be constructed in Phase 2.

Of the total tunnel road length of 99 km, 50km has been proposed to be built under the first phase. Company representatives said the project will free up road space on the surface, making it available for wider footpaths, cycle lanes and buses. Tree cutting will be minimal and land acquisition is required only for entry and exit of tunnels, they added.

"The tunnel road will have lower and upper decks for each direction of travel. In the upper deck, a provision will be made for two-wheelers to travel in both directions. Bike lanes will be adequately barricaded from main traffic," they said.

"Before starting the project, a feasibility study, detailed project report and soil test have to be done. After the deputy chief minister, a presentation has to be made to the chief minister," said an official from the Urban Development Department.

A top government official, who attended the presentation, said 40 per cent of the cost will be borne by the government, while the rest will be by the agency executing the projects. "The government will have to spend less than Rs 2,000 crore every year for 15 years. The amount collected through toll can be utilised to pay back the agency that constructed the project," the official said.

Shakti: 16cr hop on buses in under a month

AKNISREE KARTHIK @Bengauru

ONE of the Congress-led Karnataka government's five guarantees - the ambitious Shakti scheme -- that offers free travel to women in non-premium services will complete a month on Tuesday. According to data from the bus corporations, from June 11 till July 9, more than 16.09 crore women have availed the facility. The total value of the tickets issued in this period was Rs 382 crore.

Of the four bus corporations, Bangalore Metropolitan Transport Corporation (BMTC) recorded the highest women ridership with 5.18 crore making use of the Shakti scheme from June 11 till July 9. Karnataka State Road Transport Corporation (KSRTC) witnessed 4.83 crore women ridership, followed by North Western Karnataka Road Transport Corporation (NWKRTC) with 3.87 crore and Kalyana Karnataka Road Transport Corporation (KKRTC) with 2.21 crore in the said period.

KSRTC topped the total ticket value issued to women under the scheme with Rs 143.13 crore, followed by NWKRTC with Rs 99.16 crore, KKRTC with Rs 73.41 crore and BMTC with Rs 66.81 crore.

Sources said the average daily ridership of BMTC in 2022 was 27.34 lakh and KSRTC 23.59 lakh which witnessed a significant jump after the introduction of the Shakti scheme. The average daily ridership of BMTC crossed 38 lakh and KSRTC 30 lakh indicating that the ridership of men too has gone up, sources revealed adding that the revenue of the bus corporations too witnessed a jump.

"The numbers indicate that 31.72 crore passengers travelled to tourist and religious destinations in the bus corporations (including BMTC) between June 11 and July 9," sources said.

Spl officers to check food quality at Indira Canteens

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

BRUHAT Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) Chief Commissioner Tushar Girinath on Monday said following directions from Chief Minister Siddaramaiah and Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar to improve food quality at Indira canteens, the Palike will appoint officers to check the food quality and also address the issue of price variations.

Speaking to the media, Girinath said the BBMP will also launch a toll free number – 1533 -- to deal only with operation and services of Indira Canteens. Girinath said based on the government proceedings tender documents will be prepared and zone-wise tenders will be floated. "The process will take 15 to 20 days and the previous contractors are only running the canteen at the moment. Soon, new contractors will take over and rates as well as menu will be changed," he said. Following a visit by the Deputy CM to waste processing units on Sunday, Girinath said it has been decided to deploy vigilance squads to focus on garbage issues, black spots, potholes and streetlights among others.

Stating that the waste-to-energy processing plant is not working, he said the agreements will be cancelled and tenders for bio-CNG will be floated. He said all these details along with the tender documents will be sent to the government and very shortly a decision will be taken on running all the processing plants.

The chief commissioner also said the street dog census will commence from Tuesday.

Traffic, parking woes hit Vidhana Soudha

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

TRAFFIC and parking woes have reached even Vidhana Soudha as members of the Legislative Council drew the attention of the Chairman and requested him to direct the government to resolve the issue. The discussion led the members to debate the misuse of vehicle passes and even power brokers entering Vidhana Soudha.

BJP MLC DS Arun raised the issue in the Upper House on Monday and said it has become difficult for MLCs to find a parking space for their official vehicles in Vidhana Soudha and Legislators' House. He noted that even the movement of vehicles on the premises of Vidhana Soudha had slowed down as many private vehicles are being given entry. MLCs TA Saravana, Shashil Namoshi, Narayanaswamy and others joined him saying that the situation was so bad that they had to park their vehicles elsewhere and enter Vidhana Soudha. They also said vehicle passes were being misused rampantly and that was also a reason for the chaos.

Minister for Law and Parliamentary Affairs H K Patil agreed to it and said middlemen were misusing the names of legislators and getting passes, to which BJP MLC Muniraju Gowda PM quipped that the minister should specify which middlemen were entering Vidhana Soudha and asked whether they were involved in transferring officers. Patil replied that it was a known fact that all types of middlemen, including power brokers, come to Vidhana Soudha. This is not new and he will give a list of such people if the MLC wants.

The minister promised that all efforts will be made to put an end to the menace while the chairman said all stakeholders, including the police, will be called to his office and the issue will be resolved.

Security tightened

Following Friday's incident of a security breach in which a man gained entry into the Legislative Assembly and was caught sitting on an MLAs seat watching the budget presentation, security has been tightened at Vidhana Soudha. Police stopped all vehicles entering the premises and allowed only those having a valid vehicle pass. A woman employee of the secretariat was found carrying a knife and it was seized by the security personnel.

CITING a lack of basic facilities, students of Bangalore University are all set to state a protest on Tuesday. The students alleged that the university doesn't have basic facilities, including infrastructure, and not enough is being done to address issues.

"We have been making these demands for months. The university has been deferring the distribution of laptops to research scholars, there are no WiFi facilities and infrastructure at the gym and swimming pool areas is very poor. We have asked that the administration help put funding towards developing the university, but they have not been met," said Lokesh Ram, a student activist.

COMPENSATE US AS PER 2013 ACT OR SCRAP PRR, FARMERS TELL CM

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

Nearly 200 landlosers, a majority of them farmers, on Monday staged a protest outside the BDA head office at Palace Gutahalli demanding that they be allowed to meet the chief minister in connection with compensation for their land acquired for the 73-km Peripheral Ring Road (PRR) project. A few representatives got an opportunity to meet the CM at his residence later and appealed for a better compensation for their lands.

N Raghu, general secretary of the recently formed 'PRR Farmers and Landlosers Association' and leader of the Karnataka Rajya Raithya Sangha, told TNIE, "We met the CM at his residence around 3 pm for a brief while. We explained that if we are compensated as per the Land Acquisition Act 2013, farmers will get more than four times the compensation that BDA plans to pay. It has been 18 years since the project was planned. If we are going to be paid the old compensation rates only then it would be better that the PRR project be scrapped."

Raghu also questioned the rationale behind the government conveying its keenness to implement the PRR project in the recent state budget, but not making any allocation for it.

Citing his case, Raghu said, "If compensation is given as per the 2013 Act, I will get over Rs 20 crore for my 2.1 acre of land, located near Electronics City. If the old Act is followed, I would get only around Rs 4 crore."

PETER VIDAL

11TH July : Taurus is my sign of the day. As you know, this part of the zodiac is represented by the celestial Bull. You may not know that it's the earliest sign to appear in ancient art. We have amazing images of it dating back fifteen thousand years, which were found deep in the stone-age caves at Lascaux, in southern France. If you are a Taurean, you should be proud!

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
In so many ways and in so many areas of your life, you show a unique capacity to turn circumstances to your advantage. Yet, now, perhaps for the first time, it seems that you have temporarily lost control. Ironically, this may be no bad thing. Allow a little chaos into your life, and you'll be flooded with fresh opportunities.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
Today's lunar alignment is designed to boost your psychological immune system, protecting you from whatever fate may throw at you. It should even be enough to get you through the week's domestic tension and family meetings. Your romantic mood is scheduled for a welcome shift later in the week, so take it easy for now.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
There is no question that financial pressure is intense, yet not all of you are passing through a cash crisis. Others are still buoyed up by an innate optimism and determination to succeed. It could be Friday before confusion or chaos is cleared up so, until then, you may want to leave vital matters to the experts.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
If ever there was a time to use your imagination, trust your intuition and amaze everyone with your breadth of vision, it is now, just as the planets are completing an inspired ten-year cycle. Don't worry about the confusion which seems to be coming into view, like some hazy sea-mist. It brings its own pleasantries and pleasures.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
Passions run high, but bearing in mind that love and hate are two sides of the same coin, the question is - which way will you jump? It is impossible to escape the fact that the wise will take the path of love. Within two weeks Venus, bringer of affection and ruler of seduction, will be safely in a fresh part of your chart.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
You should be ready to change the direction of your life. At any rate, the motivation to implement a number of positive improvements in your lifestyle is now pressing. Social contacts may strengthen your resolve, yet you should keep your diary relatively free and open to last-minute arrangements.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
A stroke of financial good luck should come as some compen-sation for the stress and strain of recent times. At least you can now see that your professional ambitions are likely to work out. A legal or marital matter moves to the top of your agenda, so see to it that whatever agreements are reached are in your favour.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
You can afford to be confident now that the Moon shifts the balance firmly in your favour. Plus, a superb relationship between the Sun and your sign ought to get matters moving and enable you to exercise considerably more influence over your affairs than in the recent past. Do protect yourself against accusations or excessive demands from employers.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
Your spirit will be lifted by certain key developments. Specifically, you may be the fortunate recipient of a financial windfall, possibly one whose source is far from clear. Secret, generous gestures will work in your favour, and you'll soon come to realise that giving and taking work well together!

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
There's still no let-up from dynamic planetary aspects. What can be said, though, is that the key to success or failure lies totally in your own capacity to organise your priorities and arrange your affairs. If recent events have taught you anything, it is that in the final analysis, you are in control.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
So much has been concealed from you over the past few weeks that you may have given up hope of ever uncovering the answer to a particular question. Concentrate on what you can do to improve working conditions and don't let pessimistic people put you off.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
When the Moon forms spectacular relationships with other planets, as it does with excitable Uranus, Saturn and intense Pluto, you are bound to benefit. You will begin to wonder why you ever lacked confidence or doubted your ability to succeed either socially or professionally. The world lies at your feet, Pisces!

As many as 34.76 lakh cases were settled amicably in a single day in the Lok Adalat held across the state on Saturday. Justice G Narendar, Judge of the High Court and Executive Chairman of Karnataka State Legal Services Authority, said a total of 34,76,887 cases were disposed of, including 2,50,344 pending, and 32,25,887 pre-litigation cases. The total settlement amount in all the cases is Rs 1,911 crore, he added

B'luru to get 11 new police stns

But many vacancies in police department

BALA CHAUHAN @ Bengaluru

THE Siddaramaiah-led Congress government has proposed 11 new police stations in Bengaluru; six women police stations and five for traffic management in the Budget last week. The Budget also mentioned phase-wise creation of 2,454 new posts for strengthening existing police stations and offices and improving law and order in the city.

"The proposal to set up new police stations comes at a time when executive and non-executive posts in around 40 police stations in Karnataka are reportedly lying vacant with around 50 officials of the rank of police inspector and deputy superintendent of police awaiting posting after the reversal of election-related postings," sources told The New Indian Express. There are 1,060 police stations in Karnataka.

Vacancies a concern

According to sources, vacancies are in the post of law and order, besides cybercrime, economic offences and narcotics (CEN), traffic etc. That executive posts of law and order in police stations are reportedly lying vacant is of concern, which means that there are police stations, which are allegedly functioning without inspectors. This despite the fact that there are officials of the rank of inspectors, who are awaiting posting.

The Police Establishment Board (PEB) last held its meeting in June to reverse all election-related transfers. The date for the next board meeting to fill up vacancies is "yet to be decided", added sources.

"That officials are awaiting posting is a huge waste of public money. It degrades individual and collective morale of officials besides having a cascading effect on the department. Unfortunately, this is not a new phenomenon. There are various reasons for such aberrations, which include political interference in transfers and postings and officials using their political clout to get a posting of choice," said a retired DG&IGP, who didn't wish to be named.

The PEB, set up in 2013 in compliance with the directions of the Supreme Court in respect to police reforms, decides on the transfers, postings, promotions and other service-related matters of officers of and below the rank of DSP.

It is headed by the Director General and Inspector general of Police (DG&IGP) and ADGP, Administration, as the member secretary. Three senior ADGPs, Law & Order, Crime & Technical Services and Commissioner of Police, Bengaluru City, have been appointed by the government to the Board.

AFTER RELEASE FROM PRISON, MAN SLITS WIFE'S THROAT

YATHIRAJU @ Bengaluru

A city court sentenced a man to life imprisonment for killing his wife by slitting her throat. The convict, Balveer Singh alias Ballu (47), was staying at Agrahara Dasarahalli in the city.

Singh, who hails from Agra, was supplying pan beeda to marriage halls. He was in jail for six months after he was convicted of cruelty and harassment based on his wife's complaint. He reunited with his wife, who was working in a factory, a year after his release from prison and took revenge.

Motive to kill

Also sentencing him to undergo one year for domestic violence, the court imposed a Rs 2,000 fine and directed the District Legal Services Authority, Bengaluru Urban District, to pay Rs 1.50 lakh each to his two children under the Victim Compensation Scheme.

"... the accused was the husband of the victim and it was his duty to look after her with utmost love and affection. Here, the accused was convicted in the earlier case and came out of prison with a motive to kill his wife. Further, the accused called his wife for romance, changed her mood and committed the heinous offence," said Judge KS Jyothishree, 71st Additional City Civil and Sessions Court, in the order.

Unable to tolerate her husband's torture in an inebriated state, the wife and children went to Agra. Singh, however, convinced them and brought them to the city twice. Meanwhile, he was convicted in a case registered by his wife for cruelty and harassment at Cottonpet police station in 2013. After six months of serving the term, he was released from jail.

In 2015, he reunited with his wife. Unable to bear his harassment, his younger girl child was staying at her friend's house.

On September 9, 2017, after his children left home, he called his wife to join him. When she was relaxing, he increased television volume, brought a knife from the kitchen and cut her throat at 11.45 am. He then closed the door and escaped.

Driver, friend sip tea, vehicle with tomatoes worth ₹1.5 lakh stolen

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

A jeep containing 210 trays of tomatoes was stolen near the CMTI Junction in RMC Yard police station limits Saturday night.

A 38-year-old driver from Challakere in Chitradurga and his friend were transporting tomatoes to the market in Kolar in a jeep. The duo had stopped to have tea.

When they returned, the jeep was missing. They had left their phones inside the vehicle.

The estimated cost of the tomatoes is around Rs 1.5 lakh, while the jeep is around Rs 3.25 lakh. A case of theft has been registered based on a complaint by A Shivanna, the owner-cum-driver of the vehicle. Shivanna and his friend Mallesh left in their vehicle to supply the veggies to Kolar.

The duo stopped the jeep near the CMTI junction as they had to take a left towards BEL Road. They had tea at a roadside stall.

"The accused stole the vehicle because it had tomatoes. The complainant had observed suspicious behaviour of the people in an SUV that was parked behind the jeep. The vehicle is registered in Tumakuru RTO.

The incident happened between 10.15 pm and 10.30 pm Saturday," said an officer. The police are checking the CCTV camera footage in the vicinity.

Delivery agent stabbed trying to get his bike back

PRAVEEN KUMAR @ Bengaluru

A 21-year-old pizza delivery agent, who had lost his bike around six months, was shocked to find that it was stolen by an acquaintance.

M Ramu, a resident of Sarakki in JP Nagar, opened an app to check if there had been any traffic violations and found there has been one a few days back. The link of the traffic police website showed him the place of violation where two men were on his bike. The pillion was known to one of his friends.

He called up the accused and asked him to return his bike. He was asked to come near in front of Uday Prime Office near Konanakunte cross. When Ramu arrived at the spot, a gang of eight people tried to allegedly kill him. The victim, who filed a complaint with the Subramanyapura police station Saturday against Kiran, Raghu, and six others, is undergoing treatment.

Ramu told TNIE that he has received eight stitches for the stab injuries to his chest. "I had a Bajaj CT 100 bike which was stolen in January. I came to know about the 50 per cent discount on traffic violations. I checked if there was any violation on my bike after it was stolen. While checking for the violation which has photograph evidence, I saw two men on my bike and I recognised the pillion. I found out he was Sanju and my bike was given to him by Raghu," Ramu said.

Raghu was a regular to Ramu's room. When Ramu asked him about the bike, Raghu allegedly threatened him with dire consequences. "Ramu's brother had to return money to Raghu. When the money was not returned, Raghu took Ramu's bike. The accused have been booked for attempt to murder (IPC 307) and other IPC sections. We are looking for the accused," said an officer.

Man held for bomb hoax call in city mosque

BENGALURU: A 37-year-old graduate was arrested on Monday for making a hoax bomb call on Wednesday night. The accused called 112 and told the police that terrorists had planted bombs at Masjid-E-Azam in Shivajinagar. The accused Syed Mohammed Anwar, a native of Maharashtra, was arrested in Telangana. He was unemployed and would visit mosques asking for donations. He made the call as he was upset over not being allowed to sleep inside the mosque.

Pejavara Mutt seer Sri Vishwaprasanna Theertha Swamiji said that he is deeply shocked at the barbaric murder of Jain seer in Chikkodi which has proved to be a shame on the society. He said in a statement that he is still unable to comprehend that such barbarism can be meted out towards a holy person who had renounced everything in life and was a beacon of peace and harmony for the society

Oppn demands CBI probe into Jain monk's murder

State government, however, says local police will do the job

Thousands of people take out a silent protest rally in Chikkodi, Belagavi district, on Monday condemning the murder of monk Sri Kamakumara Nandi Muni | EXPRESS

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE opposition in the Legislative Council on Monday demanded that the state government had over the murder of Jain monk Kamakumara Nandi Maharaj in Belagavi to the CBI, on Monday. BJP members suspected that there could be a larger conspiracy behind the murder and financial feud can't be the sole motive for the killing.

Raising the issue, former minister and BJP MLC Kota Shrinivas Poojary said the Digambar Jain monk was killed in a barbaric way. "The murder has shaken the Jain community and made the people lose faith in the law and order of the state. While the police say both killers have been arrested, there are doubts that more people could be involved in the gruesome act. In the interest of justice and to unearth the conspiracy behind the murder, the state government should hand over the case to the CBI," he demanded.

BJP members slammed the government for not responding swiftly and stated that neither Chief Minister Siddaramaiah nor Home Minister Dr G Parameshwara visited Belagavi after the murder. Congress members defended the government, saying the home minister left for Belagavi on Monday morning.

BJP member N Ravikumar said it is difficult to believe that the murder was just over finances and that maximum punishment should be given to the perpetrators. Narayanaswamy suspected that the financial angle was being used to derail the investigation. Noting that the motive was not yet clear, former chief minister and Congress MLC Jagadish Shettar said the murder of the religious head has instilled fear among citizens. JDS members too demanded a high-level probe.

Replying on behalf of the home minister, Minister for Law & Parliamentary Affairs HK Patil said the state police are conducting a thorough probe and questioned the opposition as to why the case should be referred to the CBI. "The government has taken the case very seriously and we have appointed a DySP-rank officer as the investigation officer as this is a sensitive case. There is no question of protecting anyone and justice will be delivered," he said.

We will take stringent action, says CM

THE leaders said there was no financial transaction between the seer and the accused as claimed by the local police.

The BJP legislators threatened to stage a dharna in both the Houses on Tuesday. Bommai also referred to the sand mafia allegedly murdering a police head constable in Kalaburagi recently and the killing of Yuva Brigade member Venugopal Nayak at T Narasipura in Mysuru district on Sunday night.

The government should hand over the seer's murder case to CBI for investigation otherwise anti-social elements will take law into their hands, Bommai said.

The government should not take the case lightly. More people, including some 'powerful', might be involved in it, he said.

Siddu Savadi said the government should ensure harsh punishments to the accused. Yatnal alleged that Pakistani flags are being hoisted in parts of the state after Congress came to power.

Siddaramaiah and Assembly Speaker UT Khader objected to it stating that Yatnal was politicizing the issue. "I condemn the murder of the seer. It should not have happened. We will take stringent action," Siddaramaiah said.

He said the government will give its reply on the matter on Tuesday.

Sonia may attend Oppn meet in B'luru

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

FORMER UPA chairperson Sonia Gandhi is expected to attend the all-opposition parties' meeting scheduled in Bengaluru on July 17 and 18, said Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar here on Monday.

Interestingly, Congress is planning a massive silent protest on July 12 against Rahul Gandhi's disqualification as Lok Sabha member, terming it a 'BJP conspiracy'. Political analysts wondered if Rahul's removal would be included as an agenda in the opposition parties' meeting.

Shivakumar said, "We unitedly condemn the conspiracy to try to harm him politically. Opposition parties should send out a message that they and the entire country is behind Rahul."

He said Chief Minister Siddaramaiah, cabinet ministers, party national general secretary Randeep Singh Surjewala, MPs, MLAs, Congress workers and supporters will hold the day-long protest at Freedom Park from 10 am on Wednesday. "AICC president Mallikarjun Kharge has given the call for the protest at all major centres across the country. I appeal to all party workers in the state to take part in this protest," he added.

"BJP is jealous and unable to bear the sight of love and affection showered on Rahul during the Bharat Jodo Yatra. He was disqualified virtually overnight. Let us not forget that the party won all the seats along the route that he took during the yatra in the state," he said.

"As the first yatra was such a success, Rahul's political advisors have told him to take another yatra from east to west. In the meantime, BJP has hatched this cruel conspiracy as they are unable to tolerate his success and popularity," he said.

On scrapping Muslim reservation, he said, "We will discuss the matter at length. I will come back with the government's response after getting complete information."

On most states not interested in buying rice from the Food Corporation of India (FCI), he said, "We want to buy rice from FCI and we are not asking it for free."

Asked about his visit to Indira Canteen on Sunday, he said, "I urge all MLAs to visit Indira Canteens at least once a week and see how they are functioning." On the murder of Jain seer Acharya Kamakumar Nandi Maharaj, he said, "Home Minister Dr G Parameshwara will respond to this because the police are investigating the matter."

Former chief minister Basavaraj Bommai and former minister Ramesh Jarkiholi attend the Assembly session in Vidhana Soudha on Monday

No LoP in Assembly, Cong takes jibe at BJP leadership

BENGALURU: Even a week after the commencement of the budget session in Karnataka, the Legislative Assembly remains without a Leader of Opposition (LoP), since the BJP top brass are yet to take a decision. The ruling Congress party criticised the BJP, terming the latter's indecision as undemocratic. "The Governor's speech was held without LoP. It has been more than a week since the budget was presented and the House began. This is the first time that such a black mark has been attached to the grand legacy of Karnataka Legislative Assembly. By not appointing an opposition leader, the BJP is disrespecting the democratic system, the people of Karnataka and the sanctity of the House and is creating distrust among the people in the political system," tweeted RDPR and IT&BT minister Priyank Kharge. According to BJP legislators, the appointment of LoP is unlikely anytime soon and the session will continue like this until the end.

Bommai becomes grandpa: Former chief minister Basavaraj Bommai's son Bharat was blessed with a baby boy on Monday. The entrepreneur and industrialist, Bharat, tweeted about the glad tidings, with many of his and his father's friends greeting him.

42 lending apps pulled down for harassing people

ENS @Bengaluru

As many as 42 money-lending mobile applications have been pulled down from the Google Play Store as they were found to be harassing the public, the state government informed the Legislative Council on Monday.

Moving the calling attention motion, BJP MLC DS Arun raised the issue of online gaming and online money-lending apps harassing people and especially gaming apps spoiling the education and life of youngsters. He expressed concern over celebrities promoting such gaming apps, which lure youngsters to indulge in online gambling.

Replying on behalf of the home minister, Health Minister Dinesh Gundu Rao said the government had taken several steps to curb the menace of such apps, and had taken up the issue with the Centre and Google, ensuring that 42 such apps were pulled down from the Play Store. As Arun said that still around 800 illegal apps were active, the minister said the matter can't be resolved by the state alone as the Union Government regulates such apps and the state will take up the matter with the Centre.

Over 2,200 acres of forest encroached in B'luru

Forest and Environment Minister Eshwar Khandre said 2,284.22 acres out of 16,988.26 acres of forest land available in the Bengaluru Urban region was encroached, post 1978.

Replying to a question in the Council, he said the highest encroachment of forest land was in Bengaluru South taluk as 1,277.33 acres were encroached, while 570 acres and 332 acres were encroached in Bengaluru East and Anekal, respectively. In Bannerghatta division, 587.15 acres have been encroached. He added that 1,051 cases were registered under the Karnataka Forest Act, 1963, and the government has taken steps to remove encroachment.

We will bring Amarnath pilgrims home safely: Minister

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

REVENUE Minister Krishna Byregowda on Monday clarified that the Amarnath Yatra pilgrims from Karnataka, who were stranded due to rain-related damage, were brought to safety to relief camps, and they will be brought back home soon.

"Already, 129 pilgrims who were rescued and taken to the CRPF camp have been safely brought to Kashmir. However, the weather has worsened in the Baltal camp and the road has been closed due to heavy fog. Once the situation improves by Wednesday, the road operation will begin. After that, those in the Baltal camp will also be brought to Kashmir and to Karnataka," he informed the Assembly.

The Chief Minister's Office is communicating with four senior IAS and IPS officers from the state, who have already been sent to Kashmir. "The families of pilgrims need not panic as it is our responsibility to bring everyone home safely," he said, expressing confidence.

T Narasipura tense after Yuva Brigade activist murdered

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Mysuru

A 32-year-old man, associated with Yuva Brigade, was hacked to death on the outskirts of T Narasipura on Sunday evening. Venugopal Nayak, a resident of Srirampura Colony in the town, was murdered by six men on the outskirts of the town.

On Saturday, a Hanuma jayanthi celebration and procession had been organised in the locality. Nayak objected to the accused persons parking their bikes near the Hanuma temple from where the utsava murthy was supposed to be taken on procession. He also asked the accused to remove the flexes of late actor Puneeth Rajkumar from the procession van, leading to a clash between Nayak and his friends, and the accused persons. The situation had calmed down after some time and the procession was held peacefully.

But the two groups clashed again when flexes were being removed on the procession route on Sunday afternoon. The accused persons asked Nayak and his friends to come to a service station, which belongs to one of the accused Anil, on the outskirts of the town for a compromise. When Nayak and his friends came to the spot, there was a heated argument and in a fit of rage, the accused hit Nayak with a bottle. Nayak collapsed and his friends rushed him to a T Narasipura hospital, where he was declared brought dead.

Venugopal Nayak

Based on the complaint filed by the victim's wife Poornima, T Narasipura police registered a case against six persons -- Manikanta, Sandesh, Shankaregowda, Anil, Haris and Manju.

SP Seema Latkar said two of the six accused have been secured, while three teams have been formed to arrest the remaining, who are absconding.

Tension prevailed in the town after pro-Hindu organisations called for a T Narasipura bandh, which was observed on Monday with shops and business establishments downing their shutters voluntarily. Pro-Hindu activists took out a march to protest against the murder, while the police had made elaborate security arrangements.

At the KR Hospital mortuary in Mysuru, where Nayak's body had been brought for postmortem, pro-Hindu organisations and the victim's relatives protested, not allowing the body to be moved to T Narasipura. They wanted the government to announce a Rs 25 lakh compensation and a government job to Nayak's wife. The district authorities and police convinced the protesters to withdraw the protest.

Yuva Brigade chief Chakravarthy Sulibele, who met Nayak's family, alleged that supporters of Sunil Bose, son of Social Welfare Minister HC Mahadevappa, are responsible for the murder.

POST BUDGET

Lobbying for posts in boards to intensify

ENS @ Vijayapura

THE Congress had recently hinted that the appointment of chairpersons and members to various boards and corporations in the state would be made once the budget was presented. Now with Chief Minister Siddaramaiah having presented the budget, the lobby for key positions is expected to intensify across districts.

Many aspirants are reportedly meeting Congress MLAs and influential leaders to get their names recommended for the key posts. Meanwhile, sources said the KPCC has sent letters to different district committees to recommend names for different posts for consideration. "It is natural that when a particular party comes to power, the leaders of that party would like to become a part of some board or corporation. Many Congress leaders are lobbying for different posts," said a prominent Congress leader of Vijayapura district.

He said that the ones who have associated with the party for a long time and have not got any posts in the government are likely to be considered.

With the Congress inducting several new faces in the state cabinet, some popular and senior legislators are also among those who are deprived of cabinet berths.

The party is likely to appoint some of the legislators to a key positions in an attempt to take them into confidence, sources said, adding that the leaders who have been loyal to the party and contributed to its victory in the recent polls may also get the nod. In the next few days, the ruling party is expected to start the process, given the rising pressure from aspirants in various districts.

CM Siddaramaiah, flanked by DyCM DK Shivakumar and Food and Civil Supplies Minister KH Muniyappa, launches Anna Bhagya scheme in Bengaluru on Monday

Did not say we will give 10 kg rice, says Siddaramaiah

SIDDARAMAIAH said the Food Security Act was first implemented by Manmohan Singh when he was prime minister. "The Centre was giving rice for Rs 3 per kg. Whereas, we in Karnataka gave it for Re 1 per kg. Later, rice was given free. We increased the quantity from 5 to 7 kg. In all, 4.42 crore people are getting free rice (1.28 crore families)," he added.

Post Covid, the Centre stopped charging Rs 3 per kg. "They are claiming that they started it. But it was the Congress government which started giving free rice much before," he said.

The Centre gives 5 kg of rice and the state government will add its share of 5 kg. The same was announced in the Congress manifesto. He said, "We did not say we will give 10 kg rice." Later, it was decided to launch Anna Bhagya on July 1 and Shakthi on June 11. Gruha Jyothi will be implemented on July 1. Gruha Lakshmi needs time for registration. Hence, it will be launched on August 16. By November or December, Yuva Nidhi will be launched. The government will implement all guarantees.

CRITICAL NEED

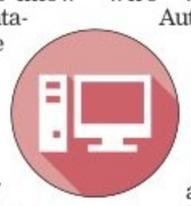
No database at disaster management office of people abroad

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

RECENTLY, the state government and officials at the Karnataka Disaster Management Authority had a tough time rescuing people from Karnataka who were stranded in war-ravaged Sudan.

The authorities had to depend on the information provided by the stranded people, who had made panic calls to the Authority's office. The difficult situation would not have arisen and crucial time could have been saved if the authorities had a ready database of people from Karnataka staying overseas, experts and former officials admitted.

"It is not important to know which state has a database and which does not. It is important that Karnataka does not have it. Many from the state travel abroad for jobs, higher studies, business, vacation and stay. Collating data from embassies, Ministry of External Affairs and other agencies to know how many from Karnataka are where and since when is not a herculean task. The challenge in every rescue operation is the long hours spent in collecting information of those stranded. That time can instead be utilised in assuring them and chalking out strategies to evacuate them," said a former senior official who worked with the Authority.



Like in the medical profession, the concept of Golden Hour should be introduced for such rescue operations too, the official added.

Experts agreed that the privacy of individuals should be maintained. But when details are being shared with the embassies and travel agents, what is the harm in sharing them with the authorities? People going abroad should look at it as an insurance against any disaster, they said.

"Not that no attempts have been made. But citizens were worried about their personal details getting public. Problems arise when people move from one country to another. Also, lack of coordination between various agencies is a big issue. We saw this in the case of rescuing those stranded in Sudan. Till the last minute, the Ministry of External Affairs did not share details of Kannadigas. All departments should work together and create a common database, which should be updated every fortnight. It has been discussed, but no one wants to take the lead," said an official.

Tamil Nadu Chief Minister MK Stalin wrote to Union Minister for External Affairs S Jaishankar on Monday, urging him to take action to secure the release of the 15 Indian fishermen arrested by Sri Lankan Navy

KCR: Will oppose UCC in Parliament

Says it will promote hatred, ignoring need for paying attention to nation's development

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Hyderabad

BRS supremo and Telangana Chief Minister K Chandrasekhar Rao has made it clear that his party will oppose the Uniform Civil Code (UCC).

He made his party's stand clear to a delegation of religious scholars from the All India Muslim Personal Law Board led by AIMIM chief Asaduddin Owaisi which called on him on Monday at his official residence Pragathi Bhavan.

The delegation also comprised, besides Owaisi, AIMPLB president Khalid Saifullah Rahmani.

Rao said that the BJP-led Union Government conspired to divide the people in the name of the Uniform Civil Code. Its intention is to promote hatred among religions, ignoring the need for paying attention to the country's development, the chief minister charged.

The CM made it clear that his party will stall the Bill as, if passed, would destroy India's ethos of unity in diversity.

"With the UCC, the tribal communities who have special traditions, religions, regions, and creeds including Hindus will be put to confusion. As if there is nothing else to do in the country, the BJP government is indulging in divisive politics to provoke the people and create disturbances with an eye on political benefit," he added.

Later, speaking to media persons, Asaduddin Owaisi lashed out at Prime Minister Narendra Modi for being allergic to India's pluralism.

He also appealed to Andhra Pradesh Chief Minister YS Jagan Mohan Reddy to support them in opposing UCC.

YSRC likely to oppose UCC, TDP yet to take call

YSRC and TDP, are yet to officially announce their stand on UCC. According to a senior YSRC leader, the party is likely to oppose the UCC in all likelihood. "With less than a year left for elections, the ruling YSRC may consider the sentiments of minorities and oppose the Bill," the leader said.

G20 meetings help place culture at heart of policymaking, says Joshi

Lambani artisans and others pose with the Guinness World Record certificate in Hampi on Monday | EXPRESS

KIRAN BALANNANAVAR @ Hampi

UNION Minister for Coals, Mines and Parliamentary Affairs Pralhad Joshi on Monday inaugurated the Third G20 Culture Working Group meeting in Hampi. "Let our work today pave the way for a future where culture is not just a part of our identity, but a driving force for sustainable development, social inclusion, and global harmony," Joshi told the participants.

"We have progressed from identifying and deliberating the four priorities to seeking consensus on the action-oriented recommendations that would be a significant step in placing culture at the heart of policymaking. We are not just attendees at a meeting, we are active participants in a global cultural shift," he elaborated.

"We strive to build consensus on the ministerial declaration containing the four priority areas which are cornerstones in our vision of an inclusive and sustainable future. Showcase a world that is culturally diverse yet unified, a world where cultural heritage is both a pillar of the past and pathway to the future," he added.

On contributions of the G20 member countries, he said, "Insights, comments and feedback on the preliminary draft of the minister's declaration have been instrumental in shaping our shared vision and that in a world teeming with diversity and our shared cultural heritage is the thread that binds us. Culture builds bridges, fostering understanding and empathy, enabling us to see past our differences and appreciate our shared human journey."

He urged the participants to remember the power of unity, the beauty in diversity, and the huge potential that culture holds for human development. "We are united by the same dreams, driven by the same passions, and inspired by the same hopes," he added.

PM NARENDRA MODI LAUDS ARTISANS

Prime Minister Narendra Modi appreciated the Lambani community embroidery work which was exhibited in the G20 Cultural Working Group (CWG) meeting held in Hampi on Monday. "Commendable efforts, which will popularise Lambani culture, art and craft as well as encourage women empowerment (Nari Shakti) participation in cultural initiatives," he tweeted praising the artisans.

Lambani women stitch their way to Guinness World Records

KIRAN BALANNANAVAR @ Hampi

AT the ongoing Third G20 Culture Working Group (CWG) meeting in Hampi, women of the Lambani community set a new Guinness World Record by organising the largest exhibition of Lambani embroidery under one roof. About 450 Lambani artisans have created a collection of 1,700 embroidery patches. The exhibition, organised by the Ministry of Culture, is the hard work of Sandur Kushala Kala Kendra, whose members toiled for nearly 30 days to display the 1,700 embroidery patches on the premises of the Yedaru Basavanna temple in Hampi.

Lily Pandeya, Joint Secretary, Ministry of Culture, said over 450 women belonging to the Lambani community from Sandur region, were involved in the exhibition. "A display of 1,700 art patches has never been done before. From the Ministry of Culture, I personally appreciate the women. Apart from showcasing their skill, the exhibition also provides the Lambanis access to the international market," the senior official said.

Praveen Raj Nayak, Deputy Manager, Sandur Kushala Kala Kendra, said, "The G20 summit helps us to spread our art. Women worked hard for the last 30 days to create the unique patches."

Madras HC to review all minor consensual relationship cases

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Chennai

THE Madras high court has decided to review all pending criminal cases involving consensual relationship among minors, and quash the proceedings in those cases that are found to be against the interest and future of the children involved.

A bench of Justices N Anand Venkatesh and Sunder Mohan directed the DGP to identify cases involving consensual relationship from among the 1,274 pending cases (registered between 2010 and 2013), prepare a list and submit before it for review.

The court has also asked the DGP to come up with a Standard Operating Procedure (SOP) to conduct potency tests in sexual offence cases and put an end to two-finger tests on victims.

A BUDGET SCAFFOLD TO THE GUARANTEES IN KARNATAKA

The 2023–24 Karnataka state budget presented by Chief Minister Siddaramaiah on July 7 has been in focus nationally vis-à-vis the fiscal management of the five poll guarantees. Congress has prescribed similar guarantees to be announced in other poll-bound states as promised by the state party unit during the poll campaign, as the guarantees turned out to be key factors in bringing the party to power in the Karnataka Assembly elections in May. So, it's understandable that the budget is being watched.

Siddaramaiah, who also holds the finance portfolio, decided to shift the budget's focus to raising funds for supporting the roll-out of the five guarantees—Anna Bhagya (10 kg rice per member of BPL families per month), Griha Lakshmi (₹2,000 per month for every woman head of the household); Yuva Nidhi (₹3,000 per month for unemployed undergraduates, and ₹1,500 per month for unemployed diploma-holders for two years or until they get employed, whichever is first); Griha Jyothi (up to 200 units of free power for every household); and Shakthi (free travel for women in non-AC buses of state transport corporations). The five guarantees are estimated to cost ₹52,000 crore annually, their benefits reaching 1.30 crore families across Karnataka.

Raising finances for the guarantees is a challenge. Siddaramaiah took it up by proposing to hike the excise duty by a whopping 20% for Indian Made Foreign Liquor and beer to raise ₹36,000 crore. The government also plans to raise ₹86,068 crore through borrowings, ₹25,000 crore by increasing stamps and registration duty and guidance value for immovable properties, and ₹11,500 crore by hiking the motor vehicle tax for commercial vehicles.

But the ₹3,27,747-crore budget mentions nothing about preventing the misuse of cash benefits in schemes like Yuva Nidhi and Griha Lakshmi. A system should be in place to ensure these reach the targeted beneficiaries. Siddaramaiah has left a massive 32% of the budget—₹1,09,639 cr—uncommitted. The state government must tap this not just to prevent misuse but also to promote skills development among the youth for employment/self-employment as a supplement to the Yuva Nidhi scheme, and training programmes for women to support the benefits from the Griha Lakshmi scheme. After all, managing fiscal resources is not just an art and a science (as mentioned by Siddaramaiah while presenting the budget) but a responsibility, too.

ROW OVER PARAMETERS FOR EDUCATION INDEX

The Performance Grading Index (PGI), an assessment exercise by the Department of School Education and Literacy, has courted controversy, with the ruling BJD in Odisha accusing the Union education ministry of indulging in politicking instead of considering merit in the latest PGI's evaluation process. The PGI report for 2021–22 saw the eastern state slip to the 24th slot in the index. The regional party took umbrage at this, charging the ministry with deliberately attempting to paint the state in a poor light. The PGI consisted of six parameters under two categories—outcomes and governance management—and allocated scores out of an aggregate of 1000. Odisha, which had secured the 10th rank last year by scoring 877, only scored 517.1 this year. This irked the BJD government, which felt the PGI did not reflect the impact of its ground-level initiatives to transform school education.

This year's index incorporated teachers' education and training as a new parameter, while modifying the ten existing ranking bands. Most states have seen a drop in their ranks, while none figure in the top five bands. For example, Kerala used to top since the exercise began in 2017–18. It was in the second ranking band in last year's assessment but has slipped to the seventh band in 2021–22. The same is the case with Gujarat. On its part, Odisha has fared well in most of the individual parameters, though its overall ranking has had a steep fall, raising the hackles of the state government, which has called for a fair evaluation. While faulting the school education grading system, the BJD has also pointed to the drop in the rankings of the state's higher education institutions (HEIs) in the National Institute Ranking Framework, attributing it to a political motive.

This is not the first time the state has crossed swords with the Centre on such a subject. An earlier school dropout report by the Union education ministry had also led to a war of words. The evaluation of education—be it for schools or higher education—is uniform for the entire country. Education being a concurrent subject, it is imperative that all the assessment processes are open to continuous participation and have a system in place to weed out any concerns by individual states.

QUICK TAKE

FOR ANIMALS' SAKE

Last week, the SC dismissed a PIL seeking to shift human settlements from maverick Arikomban's Kerala home preserve so that the jumbo can live there peacefully. That's certainly an option, like the recent peaceful relocation of humans in Odisha's Debrigarh sanctuary. But the point is, thousands of petitions beseech courts about growing animal-human conflicts as forests shrink. India has 800-odd protected areas, and no one solution serves all. Instead of piecemeal efforts, the government must look for habitat- and species-based answers for each sanctuary—like shifting humans, protecting animal corridors, or supplying additional nutrition in animal spaces to minimise foraging trails, etc.

As the world progresses towards an inevitable US-China clash, and India plays its cards appropriately, the latter can tilt the balance or act as the facilitator of peace

INDIA STILL HAS DEEP STAKES IN THE SCO

SOUMYADIP SINHA

With the high profile but rather acrimonious Foreign Ministers Meeting of the Shanghai Cooperation Organization (SCO) held in Goa on May 4–5 this year, the summit of the heads of government in early July 2023 was expected to be another landmark event in the year's international geopolitical calendar. However, after some uncertainty and dithering, the leaders decided to meet virtually, thus taking much of the hype away from the event. The virtual format ensures that an event is ticked off in the calendar and nothing important is attached to it as meetings on the sidelines are foregone, and except for the final joint statement, nothing of substance emerges.

The SCO summit under India's chairmanship could have been a much sought-after event in the physical mode, especially with the presidents of China and Russia in attendance. While Xi Jinping would have done everything to downplay the summit being organised by India in India, perhaps President Vladimir Putin may have grabbed the opportunity for a more detailed chat with Prime Minister Narendra Modi as a follow-up to the recent coup attempt and the offensive actions undertaken by the Ukrainians in the war. The war is at a critical stage, and with the Indian PM's advice to Putin at the SCO summit in Tashkent in 2022, there was scope for a follow-up.

The relative downplay of the significance was quite predictable once the visit of Prime Minister Modi to the US unfolded. It was evident that the US would spare no efforts to convey its importance to India in the emerging strategic environment and new world order. The efforts to wean India away from the Russian supply chain of military equipment and spares were more intense than ever before, with the realisation that this single factor was perhaps compulsively forcing India to adopt a more conciliatory posture towards Russia and pursue its stance of strategic autonomy. For the US, the Indian connection has emerged as one of the most important linkages in the post-Cold War era. Commencing with military agreements such as COMCASA, BECA and LEMOA took them a decade and a half to fructify, aided by the 2+2 Dialogue. The Quad has been a tool to keep India tethered to an Indo-Pacific commitment. In between, there have been instruments such as the IIUU (India, Israel, US, UAE) grouping.

Despite this progressive weightage to get India on board and the strategic partnership in the making being placed on a higher platform, India did not show transformational interest, nor did the US push beyond a limit until now. The activation of Ladakh by China caused much consternation in India and should have triggered the expected surge in the Indo-US strategic partnership. It did happen, but again in no earth-shaking way. The Ukraine war and the coming together of Russia and China in an apparently much stronger bond, with a strategic angle of near-Cold War proportions attached, have probably led the US to look at India with more focus. India's presence in a strategic equation with the US may not draw US military support at the Himalayan borders in a serious standoff with China; no one even remotely expects that.

However, it's a golden opportunity for India to come on board with the US to acquire next-generation technologies in aviation, AI, semiconductors, cyber, space and numerous other domains, which will facilitate Indian manufacturing. The spinoffs will give India and its economy the much sought-after surge.

Is the SCO an impediment to Indian aspirations of taking the Indo-US relationship to the next level? There may be an existing sentiment alluding to this. However, India must zealously guard its SCO connection, notwithstanding its US interests. The recent SCO summit must not be taken as an example. Conducting it in the virtual mode was perhaps proposed because of the likely discomfort that both Xi Jinping and Putin may have felt to be in India so soon after one of the highest-profile visits ever by an Indian prime minister to Washington.

The world is clearly in two camps at this juncture. While many may feel that the Indo-US strategic partnership is the future and Indian interests lie there, it is evident that SCO offers the best multilateral setting for India's regional commitment and the shaping of the strategic order here.

No one can accuse India of ignoring SCO during the year of its chairmanship despite the punishing parallel G20 agenda. For SCO, it organised 134 events, including 15 ministerial meetings, and focused on the right domains. Yet the differences among the SCO members are numerous. India and Pakistan have a strained relationship, the Central Asian Republics are suspicious of the Russian and Chinese intent, and China and Russia are only temporary partners due to current compulsions more than anything else.

The most intense of recent enmities has been the long-standing Sino-Indian feud. Simply giving up the SCO will, for India, be an act of sacrilege towards its larger interests. India has no intention of intensifying conflicts but will strongly defend its interests. Membership in the SCO provides special opportunities to engage with powers that India has deep strategic interests in. India remains the classic balancing power, straddling a thin line between its Quad interests and those with SCO. As the world progresses towards what is considered an inevitable US-China clash, and India plays its cards appropriately, the latter is one nation that can tilt the balance or act as the facilitator of peace. This is a role which India could probably be called upon to play more often in the future.

Lastly, for SCO to flourish, there is a need for connectivity, but Pakistan denies India the same to Central Asia. China's Belt and Road Initiative (BRI) is not accepted by India as an economic facilitator and is considered something to achieve Chinese strategic ends. If a common thread joins all, it is the threat of terrorism in the region, a phenomenon which affects all. It becomes the common denominator for at least minimal bonding between the nations. Prime Minister Narendra Modi, therefore, rightly chose to speak extensively on this during the summit. It's a domain of interest to all and will probably facilitate more synergy.

TOURISM WRECKING TOURISM: CHILLING REALITY OF THE NILGIRIS

NANDITHA KRISHNA
Historian, environmentalist and writer based in Chennai

Writing from Ooty, once the Queen of Hill Stations, I am horrified that it has become one big slum. In 1818, J C Whish and N W Kindersley visited Ooty and enthralled the Collector of Coimbatore, John Sullivan, with their description. Sullivan went to Dimbhatti in 1819 and was mesmerised by the beauty of the hills, writing to Governor Thomas Munro that "it resembles Switzerland, more than any country of Europe ... the hills beautifully wooded and fine strong springs with running water in every valley." The Badagas ceded land, and he built his house at Kanerimukku. Soon, the colonial government made Ooty the summer capital and a resort for British officials. Soldiers were sent to Wellington, which is still the home of the Madras Regiment. Then began the urbanisation of Ooty, Coonoor, Wellington and Kotagiri. Gardens, parks, lakes, dams, palaces and churches dotted the hills.

In 1882, Sir Neville Chamberlain (not the PM) invented snooker in Ooty Club. Sullivan built Stone House, while Aranmore Palace was the summer seat of the Madras Presidency. The cool weather prompted rich Indians and maharajas to acquire beautiful homes in Ooty. The British established tea gardens by destroying entire Shola (tropical montane) forests and replacing them with tea and coffee estates. Tea has short roots, and thus the terraced tea gardens began causing landslides. The gun-toting British mercilessly killed wildlife, and the tiger population was nearly wiped out.

Post-Independence, the Government of Madras (later Tamil Nadu, Karnataka and Kerala) began tourism development in the Nilgiris. But unchecked tourism, once touted as the future of the hills, is now destroying the Nilgiri Biosphere Reserve.

Tourism has resulted in a high influx of tourists (about 12 lakh annually) from all over India. Ooty and Coonoor are replete with low to medium-cost lodges which have festered like slums. Tourists leave behind solid waste like plastic wrappers, bottles and more. Buses and cars hold up the traffic on the hill road for over two hours during the tourist season. I have been a victim. The Nilgiris should have had organic, forest-based tourism like Kenya and Tanzania instead of urbanised, lodge-based tourism. Ooty Lake, once a drinking water source, is now a collection of raw sewage.

Wildlife tourism is another problem. Tourists have no respect for the environment. The brunt of tourism is felt most in wildlife areas, where firewood is cut for tourist bonfires, night safaris are organised for animal sightings, etc. There has also been an attempted domestication of wild animals, and the region's meagre resources have been confronted with the rising population of tourists and settlers, with settlers turning forests into farmlands.

And many private estates have been converted into resorts. Resorts, guest houses and campsites have mushroomed in and around Mudumalai and Bandipur Tiger Reserves. In Nagarhole, tourists pay for high-end services in luxury settings. In Wayanad, middle to high-end resorts have come up. Only Silent Valley National Park limits the number of tourists. There is no restriction on vehicles permitted into protected areas, especially Mudumalai. Roads have degraded the forests and exposed the Adivasis to unruly tourists. The excessive traffic, demand for goods and services, and solid waste pollution burden the ecosystem.

> The brunt of tourism is felt most in wildlife areas, where firewood is cut for tourist bonfires and night safaris are organised for animal sightings, among other activities

Human-wildlife conflicts are another major problem. Small mammals are crushed under speeding vehicles. Trenches are dug, and electric fencing is installed to prevent animals from raiding crops and entering human habitations. Several elephants were electrocuted or fell into deep ditches dug around villages of people working in tourist lodges and shops. Most conflicts occur within the reserve forest boundary, forming large mammals' home ranges, especially elephants. We read stories of elephants damaging crops, not realising that humans have encroached into reserve forests. The loss of natural habitat and habitat fragmentation are major causes of injuries and deaths of animals in the Nilgiri Biosphere Reserve.

With high demand from tourist lodges and hotels, water resources are over-exploited. The major rivers have been tapped for hydroelectricity, culminating in reservoirs which feed the plains and are major drinking water and irrigation sources. Water pollution from raw sewage, chemical pesticides and fertilisers is very high. In fact, the Nilgiris is one of the highest users of fertilisers and pesticides. Large and small industries along the River Bhavani pollute the waters extensively. Here, too, migrant labour and tourists are major sources of pollution.

For over two centuries, the forests have been denuded of valuable teak, sandalwood and rosewood. Exotic species introduced to construct army barracks and railways—wattle, eucalyptus and cinchona planted over grasslands—destroy the pasture lands of indigenous pastoral tribes. The Tamil Nadu Forest Department introduced exotic commercial tree crop plantations and tea plantations. The Kerala Forest Department still plants commercial teak in Nilambur.

The indigenous vegetation of the Nilgiri Biosphere Reserve has been replaced by tea and coffee plantations, marshes have been converted into vegetable fields, and high-altitude forests into commercial plantations. Cultivation of vegetables with the excessive use of chemical fertilisers and pesticides on steep slopes leads to soil erosion and lack of water retention. Steep terrain agriculture causes soil erosion. Large agricultural tracts near forests lead to human-animal conflicts. Tea governs the economy of the Nilgiris. Forest lands were cleared for Sri Lankan repatriates to grow tea, resulting in an economic boon but an ecological disaster, promoting the excessive use of chemical pesticides and fertilisers. Tea prices fell drastically in 2003–04, causing an economic calamity. Commercial endeavours and tourism create a major problem in the district.

In this scenario, the beautiful old homes are converted into hotels and lodges, and Ooty is no longer a tourist paradise or a "Queen". The Nilgiris were declared a Biosphere Reserve in 1986 but have become a Tourist Horror today. We must learn from African countries, where tourism is controlled, resorts are spread out, and tourism is a pleasure, not a destroyer, as in the Nilgiris.

Political publicity

Ref: Literature not a tool for political publicity (July 10). It seems inappropriate to print a logo highlighting the second anniversary of the Kerala government on the covers of around 30 books. As a mark of decency and established traditions in the field of literature, a practice like this should have been discarded.

LDF logo

Regardless of whether it is justifiable to have a government logo on books published by the Kerala Sahitya Akademi or not, what will happen if one simply ignores the logo and reads the contents instead? This will be more rewarding. A logo does not carry much political value and significance.

Auspicious story

Renuka Narayanan has ended her column The stories for the sacred month of Shravan with the wedding between Parvati and Shiva, following Parvati's intense meditation for the same. 'UCC necessary to bring fundamental right of equality'

Once it becomes law, every group will continue to have freedom and no one shall be discriminated against on basis of faith, says Kerala Governor Arif Mohammed Khan

PRIME Minister Narendra Modi's recent statement on Uniform Civil Code (UCC) has kicked up nation-wide debate on the proposed equal rights law. While many Muslim organisations have opposed the move, political parties hold different opinions on the same. Kerala Governor Arif Mohammed Khan who has been a proponent of gender justice and equal rights for Muslim women, says that the Uniform Civil Code should be implemented in the country, not merely because it is part of the directive principles, but because the existing legal arrangement violates both the fundamental right of equality before law and equal protection of laws. In an interview to Anil S, the Governor also criticised the Left parties for doing a volte-face in their stance on the UCC.

The Centre is now mulling over implementing the Uniform Civil Code and the same has invoked stringent criticism from various quarters. What is your position in this matter?
We are a vibrant democracy and everyone has the right to give expression to her opinion. My stand is the same which is spelled out in the Constitution of India which makes it obligatory for the State to secure a uniform civil code for all citizens throughout the territory of India. I feel that UCC should come not merely because it is part of the directive principles but more importantly the legal arrangement that exists violates the fundamental right of equality before law and equal protection of laws. Today every person who goes to the court to seek justice in matters pertaining to personal laws receives justice on the basis of her religious faith. Two persons similarly circumstanced will not receive similar justice because they belong to different faith traditions. I feel that any judicial scrutiny would reveal that personal laws are violative of fundamental rights and they are an obstacle in the path of uniformity of justice.

Verbatim

A few political parties, including the CPM and IUML, have lashed out against such a move, terming it anti-women and anti-minority. Do you believe such opposition stems from political rather than ideological differences?
Muslim League I can understand because they had raised this bogey even before Independence and had demanded partition of India to safeguard Muslim religion, culture and language. It is a different matter that after partition, the new dominion Pakistan changed these personal laws in 1962 and not only banned triple divorce but also placed restrictions on polygamy. What is surprising is the volte face staged by the Left which at least till 1990, was vocal supporters of UCC and gender justice. In 1986, when I resigned from the Central government on the issue of Shah Bano, Mr EMS Namboodripad, Left parties and BJP had supported my stand. Since Left parties had earlier supported the UCC, I think they owe a duty to the people to explain why they have changed their stance so radically and now are ready to align with parties who were described by them as communal.

Since Left parties had earlier supported the UCC, I think they owe a duty to the people to explain why they have changed their stance so radically and now are ready to align with parties who were described by them as communal.

Those opposing the UCC have pointed out that the Centre could instead review existing discriminatory practices in personal laws of various religions. Would you concur with such an approach?
The Centre must stand by the Constitution, which is clear on this issue. If those who are opposed to UCC feel that gender justice can be ensured through some other methodology then it is their duty to prepare the draft and submit to the Law Commission and to the government and I am sure that it will receive due consideration.

Opposing parties have pointed out that any demand for such a reform should arise from within a particular community. As someone who has always advocated equal rights for Muslim women, do you feel that such reformatory awareness does exist in present-day society?
This question reminds me of what Sri PV Narsimha Rao had told me in 1986 while trying to persuade me to withdraw my resignation from the government. He said, "We are not social reformers but a political party. If Muslims want to live in a pothole, why we should bother about it as long as they are voting for us?" To me this approach is dangerous because if any one section of the population is left behind then it would not hurt them alone rather it would be a problem for the whole country.

Some are also of the view that if the UCC is implemented by the Centre, it would end up destroying the diverse fabric of Indian society. Would you agree with such a thought process?
This assertion is part of a vicious propaganda to mislead people to believe that UCC means bringing about uniformity of customs, rituals and practices. This is far from the truth. The UCC is only about bringing uniformity of justice. After UCC becomes law, every group will continue to have freedom to follow their own practices and customs but in case of any dispute if the parties decide to go to the court then uniform justice will be available and no one shall be discriminated against on the basis of her faith. Never forget that UCC is a civil law and no civil law forbids any action on the pain of punishment. Civil Laws do not come into operation on their own, they are enforced by courts only if the affected party goes to the court seeking remedy for some alleged wrong.

A slew of legislations including the Hindu Marriage Act, Hindu Succession Act, Indian Christian Marriages Act, Indian Divorce Act, Parsi Marriage and Divorce Act will be replaced, if the UCC becomes law. Would this not impact the religious freedom guaranteed by the Constitution?
Please look at Article 25 of the Constitution more closely. It ensures freedom of conscience and free profession, practice and propagation of religion to all persons not just citizens. It is not a community right but an individual right subject to public order, morality and health and nothing in this article shall prevent the State providing for social welfare and reform. Secondly, I am convinced that the Constitution of India does not allow the government to enforce religious laws as there is no unanimity in any religious community as the interpretations of various provisions differ and particularly among Muslims there are more than six schools of jurisprudence which are applicable to various groups who subscribe to these schools. In fact Muslim Law is a misnomer, at best they can be described as sectarian laws which radically differ from each other. That explains why Muslim Ulema are not able to codify the Muslim Law and the Shariat Application Act 1937 is merely a declaratory law that such and such matters shall be decided in accordance with the provisions of Muslim Law. In the absence of a codified law, when a specific matter comes for adjudication, the court has no option but to find out some previous ruling and apply that ruling to decide the matter accordingly.

> Muslim Law is a misnomer. At best, they can be described as sectarian laws, which radically differ from each other. That explains why Muslim Ulema are not able to codify the Muslim Law
> Arif Mohammed Khan

So when the government in 1986, accepted the stand of Personal Law Board in Shah Bano Case and decided to enact a law as per their demand, the state power was used to impose one viewpoint on all Muslims although many Muslims had publicly differed with the Board. Will you not see this as denial of freedom of religion to these individuals who may be small in number but held a view which was different from Personal Law Board and this list included very eminent individuals led by former Vice Chancellor of Aligarh Mr. FH Badruddin Tyebji.

Critics cite the example of Goa where UCC had already been enforced. They point out that the Hindu community too has had to bear the brunt of such a law. Do you foresee a host of future legal tangles arising from implementing the UCC?
Goa is a good example. Has the UCC there created uniformity of custom, ritual and practice or it has merely provided for uniformity of justice. One political leader has said on record that UCC is an attempt to impose Hindu Law on Muslims. Though he has a legal background he appears to be unaware that Hindu Code Bill is not a law based on Shastras. The Shastra based Hindu Law had no provision about divorce or daughters having a share in ancestral property. Because Hindu Code Bill is not based on Hindu Shastras therefore Dr. Ambedkar thought it appropriate to apply it to communities like Jains, Buddhists and Sikhs as well. It is a modern legislation but to assure the Muslims that it would not apply to them it was named as Hindu Code Bill. Today the Law Commission has invited opinions and everybody has a right to propose a draft of UCC, whose provisions do not offend any religious sensitivity and at the same time are in accord with the letter and spirit of the Constitution, then we can go ahead to secure a Uniform Civil code for all Indians.

India may buy Rafale M during PM's visit

MAYANK SINGH @ New Delhi

IN a move to strengthen maritime air combat capability, the process to acquire Rafale-Marine (M) combat fighters has moved a step closer to approval by the Defence Procurement Board (DPB). Another approval included construction of the additional Scorpene submarine, adding to the Indian Navy's underwater Combat capability. These approvals will be moved to the Defence Acquisition Council (DAC) in a couple of days.

The deal to buy 26 Rafale M jets and three additional Scorpene submarines from France are expected to be announced during PM Narendra Modi's visit to France during July 14-16.

The deals worth around ₹90,000 crore, will include 26 Rafale M aircraft, consisting of 22 single-seater and four double-seater trainer versions. It will also include the construction of the additional submarine under Project 75. "The Defence Procurement Board has moved the proposal to acquire Rafale-M maritime Combat planes," a source said. The proposals moved ahead for the consideration of the DAC also included construction of additional Scorpene submarines, .

As per procedure, it is the DAC which grants the Acceptance of Necessity (AoN) which sets the procedure for acquisition.

The Defence Acquisition Council is the highest decision making body on issues related to policy and capital procurement and is chaired by the Defence Minister. As reported earlier, in March by this newspaper, the Indian Navy had expressed its preference for the French fighter aircraft Marine over US F-18 Super Hornet.

What went in favour towards these maritime fighters is that the Indian Air Force has already acquired 36 Rafale fighters. The commonality of the fleet and the resultant savings on training, repairs and maintenance have reportedly tilted the scale in favour of Dassault's Rafale M. The two aircraft's versions have over 80 per cent common features.

The Navy has been exploring options to replace its ageing MiG-29K as a short-term solution. India has been working on developing its own twin-engine deck-based fighters as a long-term solution to its need for carrier-based fighters. But since there are still some years before the aircraft is indigenously developed, the Navy has decided to go in for the acquisition to meet its requirement.

The other key proposal moved forward is related to strengthening the Navy's sub-surface combat capability with the construction of the additional Scorpene Submarine in India under Project 75. India has completed construction of six indigenous conventional submarines with the last, INS Vagsheer, of the six Scorpene submarines, Kalvari Class, being manufactured as part of Project 75 (P-75).

Didi's 'strategic' RS nominations aim at winning back minority votes

PRONAB MONDAL @ Kolkata

TRINAMOOL Congress (TMC) on Monday announced six candidates for the forthcoming Rajya Sabha election for six seats from West Bengal.

Of the six candidates, three are new — Saket Gokhale, TMC national spokesperson, Prakash Chik, Alipurduar district president and Samirul Islam, president of Bangla Sanskritik Mancha, a civil society organization. Three others are sitting MP Derek O'Brien, Sukhendu Sekhar Roy and Dola Sen.

The "strategic" move to field these candidates is said to be aimed at retaining the party's minority vote bank and wooing the electorate of north Bengal where the BJP had made deep inroads in the recent election. The induction of three new faces is said to be significant as aims at two goals.

"One goal is assuring the minority electorates who have been showing their political allegiance in favour of our party since the change of guard in Bengal in 2011. Our party received a jolt in the Sagardighi by-election in Murshidabad as we lost the Assembly seat, where minorities form 66 per cent of the total electorates, to the candidate of the Left Front—Congress alliance. It was first time since 2011, the minority voters turned away their faces from our party which we consider a serious issue as the particular community has an electoral stake of more than 30 per cent in Bengal. Samirul's nomination as a Rajya Sabha candidate was a move to woo electorates of his community," said a senior TMC leader.

Samirul's cultural outfit enjoys massive support among rural Bengal communities, especially the minorities in Murshidabad, Birbhum, Malda, Hooghly, East and West Burdwan districts.

Elaborating the second goal, he said the party is focusing on north Bengal to woo the electorates of the region before the 2024 Lok Sabha polls. "The BJP made aggressive onslaught in the 2019 Lok Sabha elections by bagging seven seats out of eight in north Bengal and we failed to win a single seat as the Congress won Malda (south) Lok Sabha constituency. In the 2021 Assembly elections, the BJP performed better than us in the region. Chik's nomination was a move aiming BJP's north Bengal turf," he explained.

16 states oppose K'taka demand for rice at cheaper rate: Centre

JITENDRA CHOUBEY @ New Delhi

AMID the din of Opposition unity talks, 16 states opposed the Congress-ruled Karnataka government's demand to allow states to buy cheaper rice through Open Market Sales Scheme (OMSS) of the Centre. The Union government has discontinued selling stocked grains (rice and wheat) to state governments under the OMSS on June 13.

In a recently concluded state food ministers' meeting in New Delhi, 16 states opposed the demand of the Karnataka government to participate in OMSS, said Sanjiv Chopra, secretary in the Food and Public Distribution Department.

According to Chopra, states and Union Territories (UTs), including Tamil Nadu and Odisha, are of the view that the Centre's surplus food stock should be used in the larger interest of 140 crore population and "not for a particular section and particular class of people".

States supported the Union government's move to sell grains to private traders to control foodgrain inflation. However, the Union government has failed to sell the grains to private traders. Under the first e-auction on July 5 across 19 states, traders showed a very lukewarm response to OMSS of rice. Only 12 buyers turned up. Out of it, only five traders registered bid 170 MT of rice out of a total 3.86 LMT which the Food Corporation of India offered to sell.

Congress spokesperson Jairam Ramesh has criticised the Union government over the failed e-auction as the government has played petty and vindictive politics on poor food security in Karnataka.

"Government's e-auction has flopped miserably and more than 99.9% of the rice offered for e-auction remains unsold. In any case, it is clear that the Modi government has greater faith in private traders to control inflation than in state government than the public distribution system" states Ramesh.

Rajiv Gandhi trust: Sonia moves SC against HC order

SHRUTI KAKKAR @ New Delhi

CONGRESS leaders Sonia Gandhi, Rajiv Gandhi and Priyanka Gandhi have approached Supreme Court against Delhi HC's order rejecting the Income-tax Department's decision to transfer their assessments to the Central Circle, instead of an ordinary assessment, without sacntion from the Central Board of Direct Taxes. The matter relates to arms dealer Sanjay Bhandari.

The Central Circle is mandated with checking tax evasion. They take over the evidence gathered by investigation wing during searches.

Apart from Congress leaders, the pleas have also been preferred by Rajiv Gandhi Foundation, Sanjay Gandhi Memorial Trust, Jawahar Bhavan Trust, Rajiv Gandhi Charitable Trust challenging HC order.

A Delhi HC bench of Justices Manmohan and Dinesh Kumar Sharma while rejecting Gandhis' pleas, had said, "Undoubtedly there cannot be guilt by association or relationship, yet in the present matters, assessments have been transferred for the purposes of a coordinated investigation." The bench was of the view that the Central Circle jurisdiction is not confined to searches and no assesse has fundamental right to be assessed by a faceless assessing officer.

'Shivling an article of faith'

New Delhi: Hindu parties in the Gyanvapi case have submitted before the Supreme Court that the Shivling is being denigrated by the Masjid Committee by referring to it as a 'fountain'. The submission is in the plea by Masjid Committee against the Allahabad HC's decision to conduct a scientific survey of the alleged Shivling found in Gyanvapi.
"Shivlingam is an article of faith and worship for Hindus not just in India but worldwide and therefore they have fundamental right to worship the deity. To finally decide the suit, it is a prerequisite that the scientific investigation of the Shivlingam/fountain is conducted," the affidavit has stated. The affidavit has been filed in the plea challenging HC's direction on "carbon dating" and "scientific survey" of the purported Shivling found at Gyanvapi. ENS

THE K-FACTOR ABROAD FUELS ANTI-INDIA OFFENSIVE

Recent spurt in protests, attacks on Indian missions in the US, the UK, Canada, Australia has raised concerns over Khalistani separatist activities

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

LAST year on September 18, Indian intelligence noticed an unusual guest at two gurdwaras in Canada's Surrey in British Columbia: Dashmesh Darbar and Guru Nanak Sikh Gurdwara. The guest's name is Janbaz Khan, Pakistani Consul General in Vancouver.

Like any official of Pakistan, Khan's apparent objective was to collect donations for his flood-hit country. No one knows how much Khan collected, but officially, he thanked the gurdwaras for the generous help. He also held secret meetings along with two officers of the consulate with Khalistani separatists.

Surrey is a part of the Metro Vancouver area and lies between the Fraser River and the US border. In Peace Arch Provincial Park, a white arch marks the international boundary between Canada and the US. Surrey is also a hub of migrating birds. As per the 2021 Census, more than half of Canada's Sikhs can be found in one of four cities: Brampton (1,63,260), Surrey (1,54,415), Calgary (49,465), and Edmonton (41,385).

In months following Khan's meetings, a series of anti-India attacks took place in Canada. On January 31, the Gauri Shankar Mandir was defaced at Brampton, on February 17, the Ram temple in Mississauga, Toronto, was sullied with anti-India graffiti and on March 23, two smoke grenades exploded in the Indian High Commission premises in Ottawa.

Indian security agencies say a sudden spurt in the Khalistani movement in Canada, the UK, US, Australia and Germany is due to rising insecurity among the sympathisers of Khalistan. The separatists believe that their fellow comrades have fallen to Indian security agencies abroad.

In the last two months, three top Khalistani protagonists have died mysteriously. They are: Avtar Singh Khanda, chief of the Khalistan Liberation Force and a mentor of Amritpal Singh (who is lodged in an Assam jail) died following cancer in a hospital in UK's Birmingham. Khalistan Tiger Force chief Hardeep Singh Nijjar was shot dead by two youth outside the Guru Nanak Sikh Gurdwara in Surrey and Khalistan Commando Force chief Paramjit Singh Panjwar was shot dead by unidentified gunmen in Pakistan's Lahore.

ISI's 'double game'

A section of Indian secret agencies also attributes the recent depletion in Khalistani ranks to Pakistani spy network, the Inter-Services Intelligence (ISI). The Pakistani handlers believe they have used up the present hardcore Khalistani crop; and that they need to nurture a new generation of separatists to revive the so-called Khalistani movement.

"The ISI could be playing a double game: on the one hand they could be monitoring and stashing away parts of donations from the pro-Pakistan Indian diaspora and crowd-funding, they could be using the money to carry out assassinations of those Khalistani hotheads who have been unable to do ISI bidding," said a senior intelligence official.

Sources said soon a National Investigation Agency team would visit the US and probe the recent attack on the Indian consulate at San Francisco after it was torched by Khalistani elements months after vandalising the same consulate in the wake of Amritpal Singh's arrest.

Operation 21

The proscribed Sikhs for Justice (SFJ), headed by Gurpatwant Singh Pannun, is headquartered in New York. Pannun holds a dual passport of Canada and US. Sources say in a meeting held in June in Canada, Pannun announced putting up anti-India posters and rallies against "atrocities committed against Sikhs in India."

It is Pannun's plan to hold a protest march to the Indian missions in Toronto and Vancouver on July 8 against the killing of Nijjar and a referendum in the Greater Toronto area on July 16 and a referendum in the Greater Vancouver area in September. All of this under the macabre 'Operation 21' plan.

The plan includes asking Khalistani supporters across the globe to form 21-member groups each and protest outside 21 prominent embassies across the world. These elements and operations are backed by Babbar Khalsa International (BKI) and ISI in a desperate attempt to stay "relevant."

It is learnt that Pannun went underground for some time, recently. His "death" in a car accident did the rounds on social media last week. However, he surfaced last Thursday and released a video. Pannun named Indian diplomats by surnames: Sandhu-VermaDoraiswami-Malhotra-Vohra (believed to have been posted in Canada, the UK, Italy and Australia) and held them responsible for assassination of Nijjar. Pannun announced to "besiege" Indian embassies on August 15 and asked Khalistani sympathizers in Toronto to "vote" against India on July 16. He "dedicated" the September 10 Vancouver protest to Nijjar.

The Khalistanis have released a threat poster in the UK with pictures of top Indian diplomats. Provocative banners have been put up against the Indian high commissioner to Canada.

The fallout

The Canadian High Commissioner in India was summoned and conveyed India's concerns after posters of 'Kill India' were out by pro-Khalistan leaders in Canada.

India has already asked the Canadian authorities to take measures for the security of its diplomats. The Royal Canadian Mounted Police and Canadian Security and Intelligence Service are in touch with the Indian High Commission and consulates in Canada and have provided escort to top diplomats in Toronto and Vancouver.

"We have requested our partner countries like Canada, the US, the UK and Australia not to give space to Khalistanis. Extremist thinking is neither good for us nor for them nor our relations," External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar has said.

In a recent statement, Canadian Minister of Foreign Affairs Melanie Joly stated, "Canada takes its obligations under the Vienna Conventions regarding the safety of diplomats very seriously. Canada remains in close contact with Indian officials in light of some of the promotional material circulating online which are unacceptable."

Talking with this newspaper, political analyst Kuldeep Singh said, "There is a visible Indian government pressure on governments in the US, Canada, the UK and Australia to be tough with these radical elements. As a result, these governments have become active on this front."

Indian-origin Canadian MP Chandra Arya of the Liberal Party who represents the Nepean constituency in Ontario and belongs to Karnataka tweeted, "Khalistanis in Canada continue to reach a new low in abusing our Charter of Rights and Freedom by promoting violence and hate. Emboldened by non-criticism from elected officials of a recent Brampton parade portraying and celebrating the assassination of Indian PM Indira Gandhi by her bodyguards, they are now openly calling for violence against India diplomats... we should note the snakes in our backyard are raising their heads and hissing. It is only a question of time when they bite to kill."

Noted television actor joins Congress

Actor Vikram Mastal Sharma, who played the role of Lord Hanuman in Anand Sagar's Ramayana, recently joined the Congress at a Hanuman temple built by state party chief Kamal Nath in Chhindwara district. Vikram, who hails from CM's Shivraj Singh Chouhan's assembly constituency Budhni, has since then been singing paeans about development ushered by Nath in Chhindwara district. On the same day when small screen's Hanuman joined Congress, the king of erstwhile Rewa state Pushpraj Singh (who was a minister in past Congress government headed by Digvijaya Singh) joined the BJP.

Former woman SDM meets Kamal Nath

Young sub divisional magistrate (SDM) in Chhatarpur district, Nisha Bangre, who resigned last month (resignation yet to be accepted), over denial of leave by the government to attend the unveiling of her house and associated inter-religious event, recently met with state Congress president Kamal Nath. While Nisha had been denying, harbouring any electoral ambitions, the meeting with the ex-MP CM has fuelled speculations about the possibility of Nisha eyeing to contest next assembly election from Amla-SC seat of Betul district as a Congress candidate.

BJP leaders bond over 'tiffin meetings'

Tiffin politics is the buzzword in the ruling BJP ahead of assembly polls in MP. Just a few days after the state BJP president VD Sharma held a tiffin meeting (leaders and workers arriving with tiffins containing home cooked food) with party leaders in Khajuraho, the entire state council of ministers led by CM Shivraj Singh Chouhan, relished taste of best traditional cuisine from all parts of the state at the tiffin meeting at the CM's residence on Saturday evening. "This tiffin meet has not only given us the taste of all corners of MP, but also helped us share warmth and affection with each other, with a resolve to work for betterment of the state," the CM said.

Shekhawat aides' properties seized in ₹900-cr scam

RAJESH ASNANI @ Jaipur

Taking action on the Rs 900-crore Sanjeevani Cooperative Society scam, the Rajasthan government has seized the properties of society owners who are regarded as close aides of Union minister Gajendra Singh Shekhawat.

The action follows registration of FIRs under the newly implemented Banning of Unregulated Deposit Schemes (BUDS) Act, enacted by the Central government. The special operations group (SOG) of Rajasthan Police has named Shekhawat, his parents and wife among the 68 accused in the case.

The Deputy Registrar (Cooperative Societies), Jodhpur confiscated the residence of Vikram Singh Bhati, director of Sanjeevani Society, in Umaid Heritage to facilitate the recovery of the "defrauded funds". The property is registered in the name of Bhati's wife. Two commercial buildings situated in Manji Ka Hatha have also been attached.

Meenu Balai, Deputy Registrar (co-operative societies) said that in accordance with the government's directives and the list provided by the SOG, properties have been attached provisionally.

A direct conflict has arisen between Shekhawat and Rajasthan CM Ashok Gehlot regarding the Sanjivani scam. Political experts interpret the seizure of Vikram Singh's properties as a manifestation of the ongoing political rivalry between CM Gehlot and Gajendra Singh.

The co-op was initially registered in 2008 under the Rajasthan Societies Act but was later transformed into a multi-state cooperative society in 2010. Over 1 lakh people invested over ₹900 crore. However, the funds were misappropriated through improper loans.

INVESTORS DEFRAUDED

Sanjivani Credit Cooperative Society enticed investors with promises of substantial returns. More than one lakh people invested over ₹900 crore in this scheme. All the invested money was allegedly squandered.

- 2008: Sanjivani Credit Cooperative Society was registered under the Rajasthan Societies Act.
- 2010: This society changed into Multi State Cooperative Society. Obtained license from the Centre.
- 2019: On the complaints from certain people, Rajasthan police registers an FIR in the matter
- 2020: Police arrested Vikram Singh, the mastermind in the scam and the first managing director of the society
- 2023: 123 cases were registered in Jodhpur, Barmer and Jalore in 11 days.

A Delhi session court issued a summon to Rajasthan CM Ashok Gehlot in a defamation case filed by Shekhawat. It pertains to the scam in which CM said Shekhawat's family members were also involved.

Cracks in RLD-SP alliance as Jayant mulls options

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

EVEN after Rashtriya Lok Dal (RLD) chief Jayant Chaudhury's reiteration that his party's alliance with Akhilesh Yadav-led SP was intact, there have been several indicators of all is not well between the two allies, who had come together against the Bharatiya Janata Party in 2017.

Even RLD state chief Ramashish Rai had accepted it while talking to the media that at times SP used to send not-so-positive signals, especially, during ticket distribution, be it 2022 Assembly polls or the recently concluded urban local body elections.

Hence, amid the buzz that Jayant is on a look-out for new friends ahead of 2024 polls, UP BJP chief Bhupendra Chaudhury sent a strong feeler to the Jat leader who has a considerable clout among Jat voters in western UP, on Monday, saying that if Jayant wanted to get ideologically associated with Prime Minister Narendra Modi and work with him, he (Jayant) was most welcome in the National Democratic Alliance (NDA).

Significantly, speculations of political realignment in UP with Jayant joining NDA have been rife for quite some time now. As per sources, even the seats for RLD in western UP have been decided by the BJP.

However, the Jat leader has kept all its options open and is believed to be in talks with the Congress as well. As per the RLD insiders, the party leadership is of the opinion that if it has to remain in the opposition camp, any anti-BJP alliance is not possible without Congress.

"We will try to take Congress on board in any alliance against the BJP in UP. The SP-RLD alliance alone will not be so impactful in 2024," said a senior RLD leader. On the contrary, neither the SP nor the Congress seem to be eager to come together again after the bitter experience in 2017 Assembly polls.

UP ranks 2nd in disposing cases of crime against women, says govt

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

UTTAR Pradesh has emerged second in the country for disposing cases of crimes against women. According to a state government official, till July 6, the Women and Child Protection Organization (WCPO) had solved 97.80 per cent of cases of crime committed against women.

UP has also secured second position in the disposal of pending cases of crime against women while it ranks fifth in terms of registration of FIRs and investigation of such cases. As per a state government statement, CM Yogi Adityanath, who holds the portfolio of home, monitors the law and order situation in the state continuously with focus on crimes against women, Similarly, the Chief Secretary holds monthly review meeting and the DGP issues guidelines to the officers concerned in this regard.

Meanwhile, Dadra and Nagar Haveli and Daman Diu have bagged the first place in solving cases of crime against women with 98.30 percent disposal rate and Puducherry got the third position with 97.50 per cent disposals. Bihar remained the worst performer with a disposal rate of just 18.5 per cent. It follows Manipur which is at 20.6 per cent and Assam at 46.7 per cent.

In UP, Bhadohi emerged as the best performer with a total of 230 cases related to crimes registered till July 6. It is followed by Mau where 659 cases were registered, out of which final reports were submitted in 656 cases (99.54%). Balrampur ranked third with the submission of final report in 601 of 605 cases (99.34%).

Puducherry was third, with 97.50 per cent disposals

Bihar remained the worst performer with 18.5 PER CENT

1 killed, ₹1.2 cr looted from bank in Manipur

PRASANTA MAZUMDAR @ Guwahati

ONE person was killed and several others were injured in violent clashes in Manipur on Monday, while a bank branch that reopened after two months found ₹1.2 crore was looted.

The Axis Bank branch in Churachandpur was shut on May 3 in the wake of violence. When it reopened on Monday, ₹1.2 crore and other valuables including gold were found to be missing. The bank lodged an FIR with the police.

A gunfight erupted at Singda and Phayeng villages on the border of Imphal West and Kangpokpi districts around 3 am and continued till 6 am. It started again around 8 am and continued for some time before the security forces brought the situation under control.

Official sources said the miscreants were using drones at night to recce areas before unleashing attacks. In a status report filed in the Supreme Court, the Manipur government said a total of 142 people were killed in the violence while 5,995 FIRs were filed. Six cases were transferred to the CBI. The police detained 6,745 people.

Over 50,000 people were displaced by the violence. They are taking shelter in the state as well as some states in the Northeast.

Court no platform to escalate tension: SC

The Supreme Court on Monday said it can't be used as a platform for further escalation of violence, as it asked the counsel for Kuki and Metei groups to put forth positive suggestions to improve the law and order situation in Manipur, instead of levelling allegations

Turkey ties Sweden's NATO bid to its EU membership

ANKARA

TURKISH President Recep Tayyip Erdogan said on Monday he would only back Sweden's NATO candidacy if the EU resumes long-stalled membership talks with Ankara.

The mercurial Turkish leader's unexpected new demand came on the eve of a landmark NATO summit at which Western leaders want to display unity in the face of Russia's war on Ukraine.

Erdogan has been blocking Sweden's accession for months because of what he deemed was Stockholm's failure to crack down on Kurdish militants who have been waging a bloody insurgency against the Turkish state.

His new condition — never raised in public before — threatened to open a new chasm between Turkey and its Western allies in the heat of Europe's worst conflict since World War II.

Germany's powerful Chancellor Olaf Scholz quickly called Erdogan's demand unrelated to the issue of giving Sweden the security guarantees afforded by the world's most powerful military organisation.

Erdogan argued on Monday that many of the same leaders who were blocking Turkey's EU membership now wanted him to support Sweden's candidacy. "Almost all the NATO members are EU members. I now am addressing these countries, which are making Turkey wait for more than 50 years, and I will address them again in Vilnius," Erdogan said moments before boarding his flight for the summit in the Lithuanian capital.

"First, open the way to Turkey's membership of the European Union, and then we will open it for Sweden, just as we had opened it for Finland."

Erdogan added that "this is what I told" US President Joe Biden when the two leaders spoke by phone on Sunday.

Turkey first applied to be a member of the European Economic Community — a predecessor to the EU — in 1987.

It became an EU candidate country in 1999 and formally launched membership negotiations with the bloc in 2005.

The talks stalled over European concerns about human rights violations that came in the midst of a sweeping crackdown Erdogan launched after surviving a failed 2016 military coup. Scholz said Erdogan's new demand conflated two unrelated issues.

"Sweden meets all the requirements for NATO membership," he said in Berlin. "The other question is one that is not connected with it and that is why I do not think it should be seen as a connected issue."

Erdogan had previously voiced repeated frustrations with what he calls Sweden's failure to keep its promise to deal with suspected Kurdish militants allegedly "roaming the streets" of Stockholm.

Sebi defends 2019 FPI regulation change

Regulator submits in SC that rules were changed to remove ambiguity, redundancy related to disclosure requirement for beneficial owners

DIPAK MONDAL @ New Delhi

CAPITAL market regulator Securities and Exchange Board of India (Sebi) has denied the insinuation made by the Supreme Court-appointed expert committee that identifying the real person or entity behind an overseas investor has become difficult due to a regulation change made in 2019.

Sebi on Monday told the apex court by its review of regulations on FPI (foreign portfolio investors) ownership in 2018, it made it mandatory for overseas funds to disclose beneficial owner of the fund upfront. It pointed out that the 2019 change in regulations was meant to remove redundancy and ambiguity in law. The SC-appointed panel is looking into the regulatory mechanism of Sebi to protect investors' interest in the wake of the Hindenburg report on Adani group. The panel submitted its report on May 19, 2023, and thereafter, it was provided to Sebi for its views on the same.

The regulator in 2019 removed opaque structure clause added to the FPI regulations in 2014. The clause had reiterated that FPIs should not have opaque structure(s). The Sebi in its filing with the Supreme Court said once the 2018 regulations had made it mandatory for foreign investors to disclose upfront beneficial owners of the fund, there was no need for the opaque structure clause in the regulations.

It reiterated that changes made in FPI Regulations in 2018 and 2019 have tightened the disclosure requirement related to beneficial owners.

Sebi has opposed the panel's suggestion of a timeline for completion of investigation in cases of violation of securities market rules. "The nature, scope and complexity of cases in securities market vary significantly, and reasonable time to complete investigation would depend on the facts of each specific case and availability of information. Therefore, prescribing specific timelines to complete the investigation may compromise the quality of investigation," Sebi told the court. Meanwhile, the main petitioner in the case – Vishal Tiwari – also provided his views on the report. He stressed on the findings of the report which says Sebi has been suspecting 13 overseas entities of having links to the promoters of the Adani Group, and that the shareholding in the listed Adani stocks in the hands of these 13 overseas entities need not qualify as public shareholding.

SAT refuses to stay order against Chandra, Goenka

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Mumbai

IN a big disappointment of ZEE Entertainment Enterprise Ltd (ZEEL), the Securities Appellate Tribunal (SAT) on Monday refused to stay the Securities and Exchange Board of India's (Sebi) order that barred Punit Goenka, MD and CEO and Subhash Chandra, Chairman, Essel Group, from holding any key managerial position in any listed company.

The appellate tribunal has now directed Chandra and Goenka to file a response to Sebi's order within two weeks and also asked the regulator to fix a date for hearing within a week.

"In the absence of any evidence being filed by the appellants before us, we do not find any perversity, irregularity, illegality or irrationality in passing of the impugned order," said SAT. This order will further delay the merger of ZEEL with Sony as stakeholders would like to get more clarity and wait for the final verdict on this matter

As per the terms of the merger deal, Goenka was supposed to be the managing director and CEO of the merged entity.

Punit Goenka

Subhash Chandra

In a bid to clear the doubt about the future of the deal, Goenka has said that the merger should go ahead irrespective of whether he is CEO or not.

In the interim order on June 12, Sebi barred Essel Group chairman Subhash Chandra and Punit Goenka from holding the position of director or key managerial personnel in any listed company for siphoning off funds of the media firm. Both Chandra and Goenka moved SAT seeking a stay on the Sebi order, citing injustice.

During the hearing last month, ZEE had argued that the capital market regulator did not have any evidence beyond bank statements to prove allegations of round-tripping of funds and therefore it cannot pass ex parte order.

Investors turned cautious after SAT order as shares of ZEEL declined 2.4 percent to close at Rs201.50 apiece on the Bombay Stock Exchange on Monday. The board of directors of Zee Entertainment Enterprises on December 22 last year approved the merger with Sony Pictures Networks India.

Tax dept to check illegal inducement of voters

DIPAK MONDAL @ New Delhi

THE indirect tax department will be keeping a close watch petrol pumps, farm houses, marriage halls and slaughter houses in poll-bound areas to illegal inducement of voters

The Central Board of Indirect Taxes (CBIC) will be teaming with the Election Commission of India (ECI) to prevent flow of suspicious cash, illicit liquor, drugs/narcotics, freebies and smuggled goods during elections.

The CBIC has issued a standard operating procedure (SoP) for GST and customs officers to keep a strict vigil on such practices. As per the SoP, a copy of which is with the TNIE, principal chief commissioners and commissioner rank officials must establish sufficient number of flying squads and static surveillance teams for road and transit checks of vehicles and verification of warehouses, as and when required. In order to prevent unauthorized diversion of liquor, cigarettes etc, GST and customs field officials have been asked to maintain special watch on warehouses. The officers have been told that if any goods are found to be linked to the canvassing process or for use during election, the cost of such goods should be communicated to the principal director general, Department of Revenue Intelligence (DRI) or Director General of GST Intelligence along with district election officers and returning officers.

The officers have been asked to ensure stock checking of manufacturers, wholesale distributors and retailers to identify goods that might be meant for election canvassing and for distribution to voters. They have also been asked to check sudden surge in movement of goods like dhoti, saris, t-shirts, umbrella, pagri, etc. especially from neighbouring states. The field officers will be monitoring fuels consumed during the election process by candidates and parties.

Reliance Retail valued at over $100 bn: Brokerages

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

SEVERAL brokerages have pegged valuation of Reliance Retail at over $100 billion, making the oil-to-telecom conglomerate Reliance Industries Ltd's (RIL) retail arm bigger than FMCG giants like HUL and ITC and financial majors like ICICI Bank and Axis Bank.

The valuation estimate comes as talks related to the listing of Reliance Retail have gathered momentum.

"Reliance Retail Ltd (RRL) announced that equity shares held by non-promoters in RRL would be extinguished (0.04% stake, implying potential outflow of only ₹500 crore). Based on independent valuers' valuation of RRL of ₹850-900/share, implied valuation for RRL is ₹825,000 crore or $100 bn," said analysts at JM Financial in a note on Monday.

"Accordingly we estimate equity value for Reliance Retail Ventures Ltd (RRVL) at ₹8,600bn or $105 bn, given RRVL's EBITDA is 2-4% higher than that of RRL as it also has a few other investments/assets apart from its stake in RRL. This implied valuation is 5-10% higher than JMFe valuation of $90-100bn for the entire Retail business," they added. RIL owns 85% of RRVL, which in turn owns over 99% of Reliance Retail.

Among global brokerages, JPMorgan has pegged Reliance Retail's enterprise value at $112 billion while UBS has valued it at $110 billion. RIL had in 2020 sold a 10.52% stake in RRVL to a handful of private equity investors at a valuation of around ₹ 4.2-4.3 lakh crore.

The $100 billion-plus valuation makes it the fourth most valued firm on the BSE. Its market cap will be more than ICICI Bank (₹6.63 lakh crore), HUL (₹6.25 lakh crore), ITC (₹5.80 lakh crore) and any Adani Group firm. Currently, Reliance Retail's parent entity RIL is India's largest company with a market cap of ₹18.50 lakh crore while TCS is a distant second at ₹12 lakh crore. The Mukesh Ambani-promoted company on Friday had announced that it will cancel shares held by non-promoters in RRL and pay shareholders ₹1,362 per share, a premium of up to 60% from the current level.

Wind up Jet Airways, liquidate assets: Creditors

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE committee of creditors (CoC) of Jet Airways on Monday told the Supreme Court that the Jalan-Kalrock resolution plan approved by the National Company Law Tribunal (NCLT) is not working and called for the liquidation of the grounded airline.

Liquidation means shutting down the business and selling off assets to repay lenders. Appearing for the creditors, Additional Solicitor General N Venkataraman said that the successful bidder, Jalan-Karlock consortium, has not infused a rupee so far while the CoC has spent over ₹400 crore. He argued that if the CoC were to recover any of its dues, Jet Airways needs to be liquidated.

Venkataraman said the consortium keeps filing extension pleas to infuse funds but has not deposited any money yet. Moreover, the Directorate General of Civil Aviation is not inclined to renew the airline's air operations certificate, which expired in May.

The Supreme Court has scheduled next hearing in two weeks and has called for a response from the consortium.

Jet was grounded in April 2019 and the insolvency process started in June 2019. The NCLT approved a resolution plan submitted by JKC in June 2021 wherein it was agreed that the consortium would infuse fund into the airline. On May 26, the NCLAT granted the JKC a 97 days extension to pay a guarantee of ₹150 core to State Bank of India (SBI). The appellate tribunal extended the timeline for payment obligation as it excluded the time period between November 16, 2022 and March 3, 2023, the duration when it was hearing the petition filed by lenders.

Meanwhile, the Resolution Professional (RP) of Go First on Monday invited expressions of interest (EoI) for the grounded airline. The deadline to submit the EoIs is August 9, 2023.

CarTrade to acquire OLX's auto business

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

USED cars platform Cartrade Tech has announced acquiring online marketplace OLX India's auto business for ₹537 crore.

"On July 10, 2023 CarTrade Tech Limited (the "Company") has entered into a share purchase agreement with M/s Sobek Auto India Private Limited ("Sobek"), and its holding company OLX India B.V. for acquisition of 100% stake of Sobek from OLX India B.V. subject to completion of certain conditions and on the terms and conditions agreed between the parties in the share purchase agreement," Cartrade said in a regulatory filing.

The acquisition, as per CarTrade, is in "furtherance of the strategic objectives of the company to undertake investments which provide synergistic benefits to the existing businesses of the CarTrade Tech."

CarTrade is looking to complete the acquisition in 21 to 30 days or as may be mutually decided between the Parties.

Reliance Retail-backed Dunzo defers June salaries

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Bengaluru

RELIANCE RETAIL and Google-backed quick commerce company Dunzo has deferred June month salary to many employees and according to sources, the start-up might go for another round of layoffs.

Though Dunzo did not comment on this, sources said the top management has been the most affected and that the start-up is facing a cash crunch.

It fired 3% of its workforce or 80 employees in January and again another 30% in April to cut costs and also to streamline the start-up's operations. It was reported that Dunzo has been looking at its team structures and network designs to build efficiency into teams.

Dunzo raised $75 million via convertible notes in April, and it had reduced its dark store count by about 50%. "As we scale from 10 to 100, we are continuously learning how to redefine business processes at scale. Any decision that impacts people is tough, and always our last option," Kabeer Biswas, CEO & co-founder, Dunzo, had said. Founded in 2015, the start-up has so far raised $497 million and employs over 1,00 people. It was valued at $757 million in May 2022. Backed by Google, Blume Ventures, Alteria Capital and Lightrock, among others, as per Tracxn, Reliance Retail holds 25.6% stake in the company, followed by Google at 18.53%. Dunzo competes with Swiggy, Zepto and Blinkit, among others. As per Statista, revenue in the online food delivery market in India is projected to reach $34.68 billion in 2023, and the grocery delivery segment is expected to show a revenue growth of 36.1% in 2024.

SHUTTER DOWN

Edtech start-up FrontRow shuts operations

UMA KANNAN @ Bengaluru

AFTER laying off the majority of its workforce recently, Lightspeed-backed edtech start-up FrontRow has now shut its operations.

After almost three-and-a-half years since it started, founders have now realised that the market is not very large. The online learning platform focused on creative arts and sports, and it offered classes taught by celebrities in fields such as cricket, comedy and music.

Ishaan Preet Singh, co-founder, FrontRow, told TNIE that 90% of start-ups don't work out and we don't have regrets.

"We have realised that the market is not very large and that is the reason for shutting down our operations," he said, adding that with Covid, it took them a bit longer time to realise the market potential as during the pandemic, people were free and had more leisure time. The start-up is exploring potential acquisition, and if it did not materialise, founders are planning to return the capital.

"We are still figuring it out and will take a few weeks to a couple of months to decide on this," the co-founder said.

FrontRow had over 350 employees but after layoffs last October, the company employed only 30 people. Founded by Ishaan Preet Singh, Mikhil Raj and Shubhadit Sharma, it had so far raised about $18 million and its largest funding round was in August 2021- $14 million. The start-up was valued at $49.9 million in October. As per Tracxn, the start-up counts Elevation Capital, Eight Roads Ventures and Unacademy's Gaurav Munjal, Ashneer Grover, among others, as its backers. The co-founder said it is unfair to blame the market, ecosystem or funding environment as only 5-10% of start-ups work out.

Hyundai packs a Punch with mini-SUV Exter; price starts at ₹5.99 lakh

ARSHAD KHAN @ Bengaluru

KOREAN carmaker Hyundai Motor (HMIL) on Monday launched its smallest sports utility vehicle (SUV) Exter as it aims to attract new sets of consumers who are looking to graduate from hatchbacks.

Launched at a starting price of ₹5.99 lakh, the Smallest sports utility vehicle will face tough competition to Tata Motor' Punch, which retails between 11,000- 12,000 units per month.

According to Hyundai Motor India chief operating officer Tarun Garg, Exter will bring in additional volumes for the company. Garg anticipates that the mini-SUV segment could touch 20,000-22,000 units a month with the launch of Exter.

Hyundai claims that it is the only company to offer products in the six SUV sub-segments and has leadership in three premium segments.

Currently, SUVs account for Hyundai's 54% of domestic sales as against the industry's average of 46%.

Hyundai expects SUV contribution to go as high as 60% following the launch of Exter. So far, the new vehicle, developed at a cost of ₹950 crore, has received over 10,000 bookings.

Hyundai has increased its production capacity to more than 8.20 lakh units in its Tamil Nadu plant, an addition of over 50,000 from the current level, to meet the growing demand.

Finally, Lakshya wins BWF World Tour title

Commonwealth Games gold medallist overpowered Li Shi Feng of China in straight-games (21-18, 22-20) in the Canada Open final

KALYANI MANGALE @Chennai

IN the early hours of Monday (Sunday night in Canada) DK Sen, a badminton coach himself, was awake watching his son, His son Lakshya was trailing by four points against the All-England champion, Li Shi Feng, in the Canada Open Super 500. Standing a chance to win his first major title since the Commonwealth Games gold medal, the coach and father was confident about his son getting over the line. It has not been a great season for this young champion so far and to put into perspective his struggle, he has not won a BWF World Tour title for the last 17 months.

To add to his woes there was fitness concern and more than the tired limbs and muscles, a tired mind was not supporting him. "It was not easy," he said. "But it is good to get back into winning ways."

For Lakshya, a world championships medallist and CWG gold champion, it was not a matter of skill, stamina or hard work. Something was not clicking and he decided to step back and ponder upon his failures. No wonder he took a break from the sport in early 2023 after his nose surgery. "I've come to realize that sometimes, the best thing we can do for ourselves is to take a step back and recharge," Sen said in the Instagram post later, adding, "I've realised that it's not a sign of weakness, but rather a sign of strength and self-awareness."

Lakshya also added that his training with travelling coach Anup Sridhar has also started bearing results. "It has been six-seven months since we started training together," he told his daily during transit in the US. "It has been a great journey together. We are getting to know each other on and off the court. It's been a good mix of training and tournament. I appreciate his experience in certain situations."

> I was just focused on playing each point at that time throughout the match. When I won, I didn't know how to celebrate it at all. I didn't have anything planned. It was relief at that point.

His father, DK Sen, felt he was confident of his son's ability to beat Feng. "He had beaten Li Shi Feng in the Thailand Open recently. So I was confident (about his victory)," a proud father told this daily. And his confidence was fruitful as Sen eventually overcame the four points difference to win the title in Calgary 21-18, 22-20 in 50 minutes. "The way he played the match, especially the second game, was a confidence booster for him to make a comeback. It was a great mix of attack and defense. He had to overcome mental and physical challenges, too," DK Sen added. "After his surgery, he was trying to gain form, but he was not able to do so," said Vimal Kumar, his long-time coach and mentor. "He was constantly falling ill. His immunity was also not ideal. One day he would be perfectly fine, the next day he would end up with a fever or sore throat. With the tight schedule of the Olympic qualification coming up from now on, starting with the US Open, he needed that break then."

Vimal Kumar has seen his pupil grow from a 10-year-old boy to a champion athlete over the years. "He was always a good student. He used to grasp things very fast. When you tell him something, in terms of the technical aspects, he would learn it quickly. And Lakshya had always been mentally strong. These are things that have helped him get where he is now. We are delighted to see him make a comeback after all of the hardships and health issues," his mentor said.

More athletes fail dope test?

ENS @Chennai

A COUPLE of days after a top shot-putter tested positive for a banned substance and was dropped from the Asian Athletics Championships team, one more top woman athlete apparently has tested positive. Though the Athletics Federation of India has not confirmed about this positive dope test, there are reports that one athlete at least, if not two, has failed a dope test.

This is not the only news doing the rounds but two top quarter-milers — Mohammad Anas and Anjali Devi – have been left out of the meet apparently because their names were sent to the Asian Athletics Association past the deadline. The AAA, it is understood, rejected the names. Anjali was the fastest woman over the quarter-mile at the inter-state senior nationals and was recently added to the national camp. She would have been part of the mixed and women's 4x400m relay. In the 54-member squad for the Asian meet, two more athletes pulled out. Triple jump athlete Praveen Chithravel and javelin thrower Rohit Yadav pulled out due to injury. The woman sprinter who apparently tested positive for a banned substance is not part of the Asian meet team.

West Indies tour a litmus Test for Siraj & Co. as India begin transition

GOMESH S @Chennai

WHEN the India team made history at Gabba in 2021, one of the biggest highlights of that victory against Australia was the pace attack they fielded - Mohammed Siraj, Shardul Thakur, Navdeep Saini and T Natarajan. Siraj was playing is third Test, Thakur and Saini their second and Natarajan on debut.

Fast forward it to today, the Men in Blue have travelled to the West Indies with a very similar pace attack. Jaydev Unadkat takes the place of Natarajan and Mukesh Kumar is an extra option. In the last two years, Siraj has become the spearhead of the pace attack of sorts with Mohammed Shami and Jasprit Bumrah missing matches due to injury and workload management. He has played 19 games with 52 scalps to show, which is little South of twice the number of wickets Thakur, who is next on the list, has taken (29). Saini hasn't played a Test since Brisbane and Unadkat has played once.

As India take on West Indies in the first Test at Dominica, the pace attack comes under the lens, considering it will probably be the first time they will field an XI outside Asia without Shami or Bumrah since the match in Brisbane. Which is why, despite the fact the Siraj has grown from strength to strength, the Caribbean tour will be a litmus Test to a side that is entering transition. As they will be looking to win and secure as many WTC points as they can, the responsibility to lead the attack with the new ball will be on Siraj, with Thakur being another starter in the playing XI. While India fielded just four bowlers - Jadeja, Bumrah, Shami and Siraj - the last time they toured West Indies in 2019, this time, it will be interesting to see if they opt to play three pacers and two spinners (Jadeja and R Ashwin), considering the inexperience of the pace attack.

INDIA'S PACE ATTACK

Name	Mat	Wkts	Avg	ECO	SR
Siraj	19	52	31.90	3.34	57.2
Shardul	9	29	26.34	3.54	44.5
Saini	2	4	43.00	4.11	62.7
Unadkat	2	3	56.00	3.29	102.0

If Rohit Sharma and the team management decided to play three pacers, they will have the luxury of having Thakur and Ashwin till No. 9 in the batting order. And should that happen, the third spot in the playing XI becomes a spot for contention between Unadkat, Saini and Mukesh Kumar. While Saini will be making a comeback of his own, Unadkat has been a part of this side since he was recalled for the Bangladesh tour after playing his debut match a decade ago.

The Saurashtra skipper's domestic numbers in the last five years are as good as any and the lanky left-armer brings some variety into the attack, but more than that it is the years of experience that could tip the scales in his favour. Saini, on the other hand, can hit the deck hard and run in all day. Mukesh is yet to be challenged at the highest level and it might all come down to how they look in training in the lead up to the Test match. Irrespective of the combination they go with, how the pace contingent fares in West Indies will be key to the way the team management looks at the pool of pacers for the next WTC cycle.

World Record for Rudransh

AGENCIES @Osijek

INDIA para-shooters Rudransh Khandelwal and Nihal Singh won the gold and silver respectively in the P4 Mixed 50m pistol SH1 category at the World Shooting Para Sport (WSPS) World Cup here on Monday.

The 16-year-old Rudransh created a world record in the event, shooting a score of 231.1 in the final, while Nihal shot 222.2 to finish second. Rudransh broke the world record of Khel Ratna awardee Manish Narwal, who won gold at the 2020 Tokyo Paralympic Games. Nihal was the leader at the end of the qualification round with a score of 536, while Rudransh was fifth with 529. Four Indians, including Francis Rubina and Rahul Jakhar, had made it to the eight-shooter final. Rubina finished fifth with 158.5 points while Jakhar shot 142 to be placed sixth.

In the R3 Mixed 10m air rifle prone SH1 event, India's paralympic gold medallist at the Tokyo Olympics, Avani Lekhara finished sixth with a score of 168.

Spin-heavy India look to secure T20I series

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Chennai

WHEN India fielded their XI in the first T20I against Bangladesh, it came as a bit of a surprise that they had just two seamers in their playing XI. Barring Pooja Vastrakar and Amanjot Kaur (both seam-bowling all-rounders), India had an all-spin attack, most of whom are all-rounders/batters who can bowl. The duo bowled just seven overs of the 20, and the rest came from Deepti Sharma, Minnu Mani, B Anusha and Shafali Verma.

Bangladesh vs India, second T20I, 1.30 PM; Live on BCB YouTube

While Deepti and Anusha are their primary spinners, Minnu and Shafali together contributed six overs for 2/39. One look at the scorecard, it is safe to say that the strategy worked. Bangladesh were restricted to 114/5 and India chased down the target with relative ease as skipper Harmanpreet Kaur registered a half-century.

However, from the outside, that they seem to have gone back to the long-known strength that is spin bowling. With Amanjot, a batting all-rounder, at No. 9, it feels all too familiar. Between the 2022 ODI World Cup in New Zealand and the 2023 T20 World Cup, India had taken a spin-heavy approach often fielding 6-7 spinners. In the global event in South Africa, they eventually fielded three seamers in Vastrakar, Shikha Pandey and Renuka Singh before the former fell ill and was replaced by Sneh Rana in the semifinal.

In their first assignment since the semifinal loss against Australia, without the services of Renuka and Pandey - former is injured, the latter was left out — they seem to have gone back to the same strategy, while not picking their premier leggie in Devika Vaidya. Granted conditions often dictate bowling combinations and India secured a victory on a surface that was on the slower side, this Bangladesh side has some dangerous batters who can take apart bowlers, especially for those whom is a secondary skill. Nigar Sultana and Shorna Akter, on their day, can take the game away and that is something India will have to be wary of as they look to seal the T20I series on Tuesday.

Super Novak shows who is the boss, Andreeva slips

AGENCIES @ London

NOVAK experience was on display at Wimbledon on Monday. And so was Russian teenager Mirra Andreeva's inexperience. Djokovic, a seven-time champion at the All England Club who is looking for his 24th Grand Slam title overall, reached the quarterfinals at the grass-court major for the 14th time by beating Hubert Hurkacz 7-6 (6), 7-6 (6), 5-7, 6-4 in a match that started Sunday on Centre Court.

Djokovic saved three set points in the first set and then was two points from losing the second set. Play was then suspended because of the late hour. On Monday, Hurkacz finally managed to pick up a set, using his strong serve to near perfection. "Honestly, I don't recall the last time I felt this miserable in returning games ... due to his incredibly accurate and powerful serve," Djokovic said on court. "He's got one of the best serves in the world and it's so difficult to read it."

Serbia's Novak Djokovic returns against Hubert Hurkacz in Wimbledon on Monday | AFP

Hurkacz had held his serve for all 67 games at Wimbledon this year until the fourth set, when Djokovic broke him to lead 4-3. Before that, the 17th-seeded Pole had saved all 18 break points he faced. Djokovic reached the quarterfinals at a Grand Slam tournament for the 56th time in his career, second only to Roger Federer's men's record 58. He will next face Andrey Rublev for a spot in the semifinals. Andreeva, a Russian qualifier who is still only 16 years old, had been showing her maturity throughout the first week of the Wimbledon tournament but things went awry on Monday. The teenager had won all six of her matches on grass to reach the fourth round at the All England Club but she let a big lead over 25th-seeded Madison Keys slip away in a 3-6, 7-6 (4), 6-2 loss on No. 2 Court.

Andreeva took the first set and led 3-0 in the second ' winning nine of 10 games in one stretch ' before Keys turned things around. Frustrated at one point, Andreeva threw her racket and received a warning from Swedish chair umpire Louise Azemar Engzell.

In the final game, Andreeva slipped while going for a ball and the racket again went flying out of her hand.Engzell docked the Russian a point for a second thrown racket, giving Keys a match point. Andreeva argued the call, pleading her case. "I didn't throw the racket. I fell," Andreeva told Engzell. "I slid and then I fell." The call stood, however, and Keys then finished off the match to reach the Wimbledon quarterfinals for the first time since 2015.

Verstappen dominance continues

AP @ Silverstone (England)

ON a day when Brad Pitt joined the Formula One grid to shoot his new movie, defending champion Max Verstappen was reduced to a cameo role in his own win with F1 fans gripped by the fight for second place.

Apart from losing the lead to Lando Norris at the start ' and then taking it back ' Verstappen's cruise on Sunday to yet another win ' his sixth in a row ' lacked the Hollywood-style drama of Norris' battle with seven-time champion Lewis Hamilton for second. That fits a pattern this season of dominant wins for the Red Bull driver and increasingly hard-fought battles behind him as Mercedes, Ferrari, Aston Martin and now McLaren jostle to be the second-fastest team. "It's very confusing, to be honest, because every single race it's someone else," Verstappen said.

Max Verstappen registered his 6th straight F1 win this year on Sunday | AP

Filming for Pitt's upcoming F1-themed movie had been taking place all weekend around the F1 sessions, using black-and-gold cars from the fictional APX team. Pitt himself and co-star Damson Idris joined the grid in racing suits before the start. Verstappen extended his overall lead to 99 points over teammate Sergio Perez. First place in a race earns 25 points. Starting on pole position, Verstappen was overtaken off the line by McLaren's Norris in what he later admitted was a "terrible" start but swept back into the lead on lap five and held on until the end. Red Bull has won all 10 races this year, 11 in a row including the final race of 2022, matching the record of McLaren with 11 consecutive wins in 1988. Norris had been expected to drop back after qualifying a surprise second on the grid, but instead remained Verstappen's closest challenger throughout the race.

DIABETES

INDIA'S BITTER TRUTH

India stands at the cusp of an epidemic over the worrisome trend of increasing diabetes cases in the country in recent years. About 10 crore Indians would turn diabetic by 2023, according to a national survey conducted by ICMR-India Diabetes, which was released in June, raising concerns among doctors and policymakers. Initially, it was estimated that India would have 10 crore diabetic patients by 2050. The disease has spread like wildfire across the country, with high prevalence observed in states such as Goa, Kerala, Puducherry and West Bengal.

Even more alarming is that around 14 crore people are in the pre-diabetes stage. This means that many of them are at risk of developing diabetes, further burdening the healthcare system.

Several factors contribute to the rise in diabetes cases in India. Genetics, unhealthy diets, lack of exercise and socioeconomic disparities - all play a role. More people are consuming processed foods and sugary drinks instead of traditional and healthier meals. Simultaneously, physical activity has decreased significantly. These lifestyle changes have led to higher incidence of diabetes.

At the core of this lifestyle disease is expanding in waist lines due to excess food consumption and lack of physical activity. There are over 15 crore people with general obesity and 35 crore with abdominal obesity in India.

While some individuals are aware of their condition and strive to make lifestyle changes, many struggle to maintain them in the long run. People may initially go to the gym, restrict their food intake or try popular fad diets. However, most individuals eventually revert to previous habits, even after being diagnosed with diabetes. "Diabetes is a lifelong lifestyle disease that requires continuous maintenance. Many patients are unable to sustain dietary regulations and exercise regimens. Some patients even fail to adhere to their prescribed medications. It is worrying that 70% of patients have uncontrolled diabetes," said Dr P K Jabbar, director and CEO of Indian Institute of Diabetes, Thiruvananthapuram. Uncontrolled diabetes not only increases treatment costs, but also leads to complications.

There was a misconception that diabetes would affect only the urban upper middle class and the rich. But the ground situation begs to differ. A study report from Odisha found rising prevalence of diabetes among the rural population and tribal hinterlands in the state. "It is a myth that diabetes afflicts the affluent. People living in rural and tribal areas of the state are getting affected due to abrupt changes in lifestyle and diet," said Dr Abhay Kumar Sahoo, a professor and a senior endocrinologist.

"The better socio-economic status of the people leads to higher obesity rates and this is one of the driving forces. Also, with affluence the use of junk foods and high-calorie foods which are rich in sugar, fat and calories goes up and physical activity comes down because people can afford two-wheelers and cars," said Dr V Mohan, chairman of the Madras Diabetes Research Foundation, adding that stress levels can also be high in these individuals.

Tackling the diabetes challenge requires a comprehensive approach that addresses individual behaviour as well as social, economic and environmental factors contributing to the disease. Various factors hinder patients from making positive changes. Limited opportunities for physical activity, such as lack of dedicated walkways, can discourage people.

Dr Ridhhima Batra, of Nutrition Defined, explained that post-pandemic people's food habits have changed, especially for the ones living away from home. "Consumption of packaged food has changed significantly with changing working patterns and lifestyles. With the work-from-home culture, there is no work-life balance resulting in extended working hours and overeating at night. People's poor diet habits with no physical exercise have resulted in an increased incidence of diabetes in India,"

Additionally, the absence of clear food labelling prevents consumers from making informed choices. While the focus often lies on managing diabetes and its numbers, health experts emphasise the need to prevent the progression of this epidemic. "It is not always a lack of awareness but rather the unsupportive environment that poses challenges. Pre-diabetes, diabetes and the entire spectrum of metabolic conditions are social diseases. Understanding the social factors contributing to diabetes development and implementing large-scale policy measures are vital for its prevention in India," said Dr Jeemon Panniyammakal, additional professor (epidemiology) at the Sree Chitra Tirunal Institute for Medical Sciences and Technology.

ACCORDING TO ICMR-INDIAB STUDY (2021), IN INDIA, THERE ARE

101 million PEOPLE WITH DIABETES

136 million WITH PRE-DIABETES

Current scene

- 14 crore people in the pre-diabetes stage
- 15 crore with generalised obesity
- 35 crore with abdominal obesity
- Only 30% of diabetes comes under the controlled category
- Environment not supportive enough for diabetes prevention

High treatment costs

- Direct cost: Cost of medications, check-ups, and special care
- Indirect cost: Productivity loss, lowering standards of living

Policy Interventions for Prevention

- Simplified classification of food items to choose healthy options
- Subsidise healthy food options by taxing unhealthier options
- Infrastructure development like dedicated cycling paths, walking path, parks
- Incentive for farmers to produce more fruits and vegetables
- Focus on the quality of food items distributed through PDS

Diabetes care

- Regular check-ups,
- Lifestyle changes
- Following treatment plans

Cipla recalls six batches of bronchospasm inhaler in US

Bengaluru: Drug manufacturer Cipla said on Friday its US unit was recalling six batches of albuterol sulfate inhalation aerosol due to a "container defect". Albuterol sulfate inhalation aerosol is used for the treatment or prevention of bronchospasm with reversible obstructive airway disease and for the prevention of exercise-induced bronchospasm. Cipla also said consumers should stop using, return to place of purchase or discard the inhalers. "The company is initiating a recall in the US due to a market complaint for one single inhaler, where leakage was observed through the inhaler valve," the company said in a statement. The batches were manufactured in November 2021, Cipla added.

Odisha woman undergoes 5th cancer surgery in 11 yrs

Bhubaneswar: A 38-year-old woman, suffering from a complex type of cancer known as retroperitoneal liposarcoma (RL), underwent a surgery at the Institute of Medical Sciences and SUM Hospital in Bhubaneswar for the fifth time in the last 11 years. A native of Odisha's Boudh district, she is recovering well. RL is known to be notoriously recurrent and cannot be treated with chemo or radiation. Tumours of 7.5 kg and 5 kg were removed in 2020 and 2022 respectively. "Multiple tumours, though relatively smaller in size compared to previous ones, were removed from the abdominal cavity in the fifth surgery," said Dr Prakash Kumar Sahoo, professor of surgery, SUM Hospital. ENS & agencies

Baseball debut

George Herman "Babe" Ruth, in his first major league baseball debut, pitched seven strong innings to lead Boston Red Sox, in 1914

PLAYER PROFILE

He won 87 games, a stunning run average of only 2.16, won three World Series games (one in 1916 and two in 1918) and set a record by pitching 292/3 consecutive shutout innings

TEAM CHANGE

Playing for the Boston Red Sox, Ruth's contract was sold to the New York Yankees where he hit more home runs than the Red Sox in 10 of the next 12 seasons

RETIREMENT

"The Bambino", as he was alternately known, was the greatest gate attraction in baseball until his retirement as a player in 1935

Finding a New Home

This Dutch influencer gives foreigners and her followers–95.1k on Instagram and 311k on YouTube–a glimpse of living in a city far from home

TUNIR BISWAS

DUTCH influencer Ivana Perkovic was first introduced to India through Sanjay Leela Bhansali's Devdas as a 15-year-old. While the film elevated her curiosity about this country, she discovered her love for it when she saw it with her own eyes years later.

"When I quit my job to travel in 2015, I continued to document my travels on my YouTube channel (@TravelVlogIv). It was all in Dutch back then, until I finally reached India in October 2015. In the two years that followed, I travelled all across the world, but upon my return to India in 2016, I realised this is the country where I'd like to try living. The Dutch rainy, gloomy, cold weather was making me depressed, and India checked all my boxes in terms of weather, English as a business language, travel and food. Moving here eventually in 2018 was more of a continuation of documenting my journey, than the start," shares Perkovic.

A resident of Bengaluru for over five years, Perkovic mentions the city warmed up to her quickly. "Initially, I had to put in effort to meet new friends by going to events and connecting on Facebook groups. But the good thing is that, unlike other cities in India, many people here are outsiders too. Whether it's foreigners, or Indians from other states, they all come here to study and work. Locals are also welcoming. I've learnt the complex layers of the local culture, which I've really come to love," she says.

Perkovic came into the limelight because of her content across social media platforms. Her varied content also has videos that give foreigners recommendations for travelling to India. "I made a conscious choice to showcase the best of the country. It's refreshing for Indians, as well as foreigners, to see the best of such a unique country and culture in the world. 70 per cent of my audience is 25+ years old. If I'd be misrepresenting my experiences I'd be cancelled in no time. But the comments after visiting India following my recommendations are 99 per cent positive. The best one was from a senior couple who was initially worried and never thought of India as a destination until they stumbled upon my videos. They followed my recommendations and had the best trip. Comments like that are the best daily reward for my work," she elaborates.

For Perkovic, given a choice, home will now always be India. "Many thought it was a 'phase' when I left The Netherlands. But only immigrants understand how painful it is to leave loved ones, and everything familiar, for a new life. I made a lot of (conscious) sacrifices to build a new life in India, but the assumption that this was easy is wrong. The only thing that kept me going through the tough days was the deep sense of belonging and knowing India is my home. Now I'm also mature enough to understand we only have so much control in our life, and that one day I may have to return to The Netherlands because my parents are there. But if I have a choice, it will always be India for me."

'AT LEAST I'VE BEEN ABLE TO SUSTAIN MY DESIRE'

Even as many say she is finally getting her due as an actor, Tillotama Shome, who plays the central character in two buzzing OTT releases, counters that she is unlike many who live their whole life not doing what they want to do

MONIKA MONALISA

Lust Stories 2 and The Night Manager Part 2...two multi-starrer projects, and TillotamaShome was hard to miss in either of them. If we go by the meme lingo, then Shome 'surely understood the assignment'.

In Lust Stories 2 on Netflix, Shome was seen in the short The Mirror, directed by Konkona Sen Sharma, where she plays the role of Isheeta, who is seen watching her househelp Seema (played by Amruta Subhash) having sex with her husband. While Shome made people empathise with Isheeta, it is also true that she could have been misunderstood. "I did not find her creepy. One cannot control what others feel. We had to make sure Isheeta and Seema understood each other, no matter what was said or unsaid. This rich inner life was the focus. The tone for Isheeta had a sense of lightness and was almost comedic, until the big fight, which they had to perform to fit back into our expected societal role. If you felt empathy for the characters, let me reassure you, it was because of the dialogues," says Shome.

This is the second time Shome is working with Sen Sharma, the previous one was in A Death in the Gunj. Shome has always mentioned how she has been in awe of Sen Sharma's way of thinking that goes 'beyond the world of films'. "Our friendship has given me comfort. But this does not mean that I want to work with friends because it can also get tricky. But with her, I want to, because I know how hard-working she is. Her pre-production is super detailed. Every beat, every shade will be discussed and prepared. She is ready for the battle, rehearsed, her bags are packed, clothes/shoes decided, and pencils sharpened. We are aware of each other's strengths and weaknesses," says Shome.

A still from Lust Stories 2

The other release from her was The Night Manager Part 2 on Disney+ Hotstar, where she plays Lipika Saikia Rao, a RAW agent. That part was played by Olivia Colman in the original. However, the actor says she did not watch the original, to avoid any kind of pressure. "Olivia Colman has been incredible, starting from her early works like Tyrannosaurus and Peep Show. I am a massive fan. It would be impossible to unsee what she has done. Besides, India has its own rhythm, especially in the characterisation of someone who works for the government. So I chose to just stick to the adapted screenplay and bring her alive. And I hope and pray that Olivia Colman (if she watches it), does not hate me for it," adds Shome.

It's been more than 20 years since her first movie Monsoon Wedding was released, and many are of the view that Shome is finally getting her due credit as an actor. However, she has mixed feelings about it. "Time is relative. So many people live their whole lives not doing what they want to do. At least I was able to sustain my desire to be an actor. I just want to work in a way that allows me to live a balanced life. I really do love acting, and the world of cinema, but I have many other loves too, and they feed each other," Shome says.

Back in the day

Few might know that actor Tillotama Shome spent some childhood years in Bengaluru, owing to her father's posting in the city while serving in the Indian Air Force. Apart from that, she was also in the city recently as her husband Kunal Ross works with one of the premium cafes in the city. "I absolutely love that city. My childhood memories of Bangalore are climbing trees, watching Nadia on DD, and eating Softee ice cream from Nilgiris on Sundays. We lived in a colony full of scientists and engineers and celebrated Deepavali, Eid, Christmas and Durga Pooja with equal gusto and were heartfully fed by our neighbours," recalls Shome.

79 % of Bengalureans open to holiday romance: Survey

EXPRESS FEATURES

SOLO travelling offers people the chance for self-discovery, a well-deserved break, and the thrill of new adventures. Bumble, an online dating and networking app recently conducted a nationwide survey, in which 83 per cent single Bengalureans felt that dating whilst travelling is an exciting prospect, while 43 per cent said they like dating while travelling as they feel they are their best selves on a holiday. 79 per cent of Bengalureans surveyed claim that they would be open to a holiday romance.

As solo travellers shed their inhibitions and make the most of life, could finding love and making new connections possibly be on the cards? After all, the best way to explore a new city or country is to get to know its people. When travelling, the best memories and stories are nearly always of the people you meet along the way. Here's some advice from relationship expert Shahzeen Shivdasani:

Give your connection clarity on your dating intentions: Be clear about what you're looking for from the beginning. This avoids any misunderstandings and ensures you're both on the same page.

Be open-minded: When meeting a potential date, you might normally have a mental checklist of what you're looking for. When travelling, be open to possibilities. Just like you might be more open to new foods or activities, when you're not home, apply that same attitude to using dating apps. Adjust your date filters – perhaps your age range, or the sort of relationship you're after– to be a bit more flexible.

Put your safety first: You can use video chat or voice call features to get to know your connection better before meeting up or finalising your plans.

Clear communication: Make your intentions clear from the get-go. Be upfront with your connections if you're looking for something casual while travelling. When it comes to holiday romances, manage your own expectations, both of you might be able to transform your holiday romance into something more, you never know! Just make sure you make the most of it while it lasts!

FIT BIT

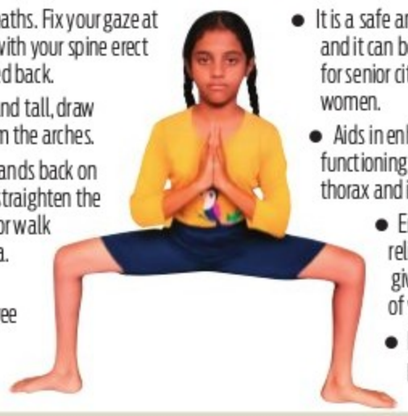
VATAYANASANA

(HORSE POSE)

This is a surrendering pose and a modification of the foundational Utkata Konasana (Goddess Pose) with the hands placed at the heart's center in Anjali Mudra. The act of the namaste helps practitioners remain calm and focused.

STEPS

- Start in Tadasana. Bring your feet together and hands by the side of your body. Take a few deep breaths.
- With a deep inhale, place your hands on the waist, and exhale. Jump apart or step out around at 3-3½ feet in Prasarita Tadasana Hands On Hips.
- Keeping your hands on the waist, turn your feet to bring the heels in, the toes out one after the other.
- Toes must point towards the corners of your mat.
- Inhale, roll your shoulders back and draw the navel into the spine, activating the core.
- Exhale, begin to squat while bending your knees.
- Sink until your knees are aligned with the ankles, keeping your thighs parallel to the floor.
- Focus on the outer edge as you draw up from the inner arches, so the knees don't collapse.
- Watch the top of the thighs roll out, tuck your pelvis in and lift the front body. Hands are still on the waist.
- While balancing, inhale. Bring your palms together in namaste at the centre of the heart.
- Stay here for six breaths. Fix your gaze at any point in front with your spine erect and shoulders rolled back.
- With legs apart, stand tall, draw your energy up from the arches.
- Inhale, bring your hands back on the waist. Exhale, straighten the knees and hop on or walk back into Tadasana.
- Finally, relax in Mountain Pose Three Part Breath.



LIMITATIONS

Persons suffering from hip, ankle or knee injuries or shoulder problems can avoid this.

One can take the support of the wall or chair to balance.

When widening the legs, don't go beyond your limit.

BENEFITS

- Strengthens the hips, the lower back and the thigh muscles
- Widens uterus before pregnancy. Aids during pregnancy.
- Helps broadening the chest and correcting postural defects.
- Massages the organs in the abdomen, particularly the kidneys, the ovaries, urinary system and the prostate gland.
- It is a safe and gentle practice and it can be included in yoga for senior citizens and pregnant women.
- Aids in enhancing the functioning of organs in the thorax and improves respiration.
- Energises the body, relieves stress and gives a general sense of well-being.
- Relieves menstrual pain and cramps.

CHIA SEEDS, A JAZZ CONCERT & A DUMBPHONE

OPEN SPACE
Bala Chauhan
Senior Editor (Investigations)
bala.chauhan@newindianexpress.com

THE other day while opening a new packet of chia seeds, my cook, who has been rather disapproving of my new diet said her husband also has chia seeds. "He has become obese and needs to cut down his weight. I've stopped his rice intake at night and only give him rotis or raagi mudde," she spoke without punctuation. "Santosh got these seeds a month ago. He told me that these were to make him slim. He soaks them in water overnight and has it after adding lime juice and some sugar the next morning before taking his auto out. I tell him to exercise instead of having these seeds but he has no time," she added. Sulochna was delighted to have discovered the name of her husband's dietary accomplice.

My cook has the ability to light a spark in me – a happy and an angry one. On days when she messes up making my morning cup of tea or if there's extra salt or oil in my upma I know that she has fought at home and come. Food becomes the casualty of her pent up anger.

Sometimes this arouses the demon in me but on most other days I feel the awakening of Buddha inside me because the frequency at which I go through food disasters courtesy my cook there has to be a deeper meaning behind the practice she has put me through. I ask myself why must I endure her but find no answers to this rather existential question. Coming back to chia seeds I was happy to know that these dietary seeds are not unknown to the other rung of socio-economic order. For the rest of the morning I found myself speaking about classless society to a zapped Sulochna, who was trying to cover up the smell of burnt rice by switching on the chimney.

Something similar happened to me when I was invited to a Jazz concert in November last year. It was a late evening event and I had requested my auto driver to pick me from the venue. Amjad was used to doing my home-to-work-to-home-trips and any deviation from the plan would unnerve him because he had to be back home at a particular time to ensure that he gets his dinner else his wife would throw him out. "My wife winds up the kitchen and goes to sleep because she is diabetic and cannot eat late," he had told me.

I was thoroughly enjoying my evening listening to jazz when the alarm buzzed and I left midway. Outside I found Amjad engrossed and staring at his phone in the dark. The swirls of his beedi smoke had enveloped his rickety frame and had spread outside in the cold Bengaluru air. In fact, the smoke had let out the direction of the auto parked in the dark. I had reprimanded him enough and more times on his smoking habits but Amjad lived on chai and beedi. As I came close to the auto, I saw a small, matchbox sized screen on his dumbphone on which Amjad sat glued watching Rekha and Amitabh Bachchan jive to 'Salame ishq meri jaan zara qubool kar lo..' He sprang up, butted his beedi and threw hands in the air to disperse the strong crowding smoke. As he drove me back home I was regaled at the thought that life can be lived and entertained inside a Jazz concert as much as it can inside a dusty, old, decrepit auto rickshaw by an equally decrepit man on a matchbox sized screen inside a dumbphone. Amjad suddenly stopped coming. A month later his niece messaged me that driver Amjad is no more. The last indulgence that he had bought with his meagre earnings was the dumbphone and some loose beedis.

LOVEOLOGY

(The author is a counsellor with InnerSight)

The meet-cute story

WHEN anyone meets people in relationships, one of the first questions that gets asked is how they met. We want the meet-cute story.

On one hand, in a world with billions of strangers, it seems amazing how people even meet and connect so much with each other that they actually make commitments to each other. On the other hand, in such a crowded world, we are constantly bumping into hundreds of prospective partners at all sorts of places all the time, and surely we must be meeting so many awesome people that to actually say, "This one is special," seems extraordinary.

The question "How did you meet?" is an acknowledgement of both extremes at the same time. How did you meet? What circumstances conspired to make this meeting happen? What makes this person special? How did they acknowledge each other in a sea of humanity? We want to know everything.

We want the full story.

A simple "It just happened," with a shrug of dismissal will not do. We want the drama, the highlights, the low lights, the missed chances and the made moments. The story has to be something memorable. If not, what's the whole point of it – how can we even trust that this is a Big Thing?

At the very least, we want a quiet smile of knowing – that they stole a glance at each other across a crowded hall, first the one and then the other, and then how each noticed the other looking at them, the averting of the glance, the lack of aversion in how it happens, and then holding their gaze – maybe for a few seconds, maybe longer, hopefully with at least the slightest hint of a smile that makes one smitten. It may be just a quick moment, but we want it to be a story worth repeating.

Like a little gemstone cut and polished to a brilliant shine and then set in jewellery with beaten gold to bring every possible beam of light to shine through that little gemstone, we want the story to pull together the energy of everything around it and be a momentous event, the start of something extraordinary. We want it so badly to be a thing of beauty and promise.

The meet-cute story is a testament to possibilities. It is important not just for the ones who want to hear the story so they can remind themselves that love is all around them, but also for the ones whose story it is. In the hustle and bustle of everyday life, we tend to overlook the magic that life has to breathe everyday to make love happen. Life is stressful. We need to remind ourselves that there is more to it. The meet-cute story is one such thing.

So, when someone asks you your meet-cute story, don't hold back. Even if life isn't particularly great right now, go ahead and share the story with all its embellishments. We can always use the reminder that love happens – for ourselves and for others.

MILANA NAGARAJ REUNITES WITH KRISHNA FOR KOUSALYA SUPRAJA RAMA?

The film, directed by Shashank and starring Brinda Acharya, is set to hit the screens on July 28

Krishna and Milana Nagaraj

A SHARADHAA

Krishna, of Love Mocktail fame, is gearing up for his next, Kousalya Supraja Rama, directed by Shashank. The film touted to be a romantic drama is slated for release on July 28. While Brinda Acharya plays the female lead, actor Milana Nagaraj is actively promoting the film alongside her husband Krishna. Right from creating reels with the trending Shivani song, to making the release date announcement, she has been doing a lot of talk for the film. This has sparked speculation about her on-screen reunion with Krishna in Kousalya Supraja Rama.

Despite the makers keeping this information tightly under wraps, our sources say that director Shashank, who plans to unveil the film's trailer on July 14 with Sudeep as the guest of honour, might shed light on Milana's presence in the film. If confirmed, this would mark the sixth collaboration of this off-screen couple on the silver screen. Their previous works include Nam Duniya Nam Style, Charlie and the Love Mocktail series. They followed it up with Love Birds, and now their partnership continues with Kousalya Supraja Rama.

Krishna's Kousalya Supraja Rama will be his third release of the year, following Mr Bachelor and Love Birds. He will be paired opposite Brinda Acharya, for the first time, who is known for her roles in Premam Poojyam and Juliet. The film also features an ensemble cast, including Nagabhushana, Rangayana Raghu, Sudha Belawadi, and Achyuth Kumar.

Kousalya Supraja Rama is jointly produced by Kourava Production House and Shashank Cinemas. Arjun Janya composes the music for the film, while Sugnan is the cinematographer.

Sathish Ninasam

The actor is said to be highly impressed with the script, a realistic, intense drama

Shreelesh Nair

SATHISH NINASAM TO COLLABORATE WITH PEPE DIRECTOR SHREELESH NAIR

Sathish Ninasam has been displaying a slow and steady approach in script selection. Apart from his upcoming release, Matinee, the actor is also involved in another project directed by Sridhar Shikaripura and produced by Sharmiela Mandre, who also plays the female lead. Additionally, Sathish is busy with Ashoka Blade, his first multilingual film. Meanwhile, there are reports abuzz that Sathish green lighting a film by Pepe director Shreelesh Nair. Apparently, the actor was highly impressed with the script, which is going to be an intense drama, which is very close to reality.

Other details about the film will be unveiled once it goes on floors. Sathish intends to commence filming after wrapping up Ashoka Blade, which is helmed by debutant director Suresh and is planned to be released in two installments, and after completing the shoot for his project alongside Sharmiela Mandre. On the director's side, Shreelesh Nair is eagerly waiting to make his directorial debut with Pepe. Starring Vinay Rajkumar, the film has already created a buzz with its captivating posters and glimpses. Currently, the project is in the post-production stage, and the makers will announce the release date soon.

Vicky Kaushal-Tripti Dimri film gets a new release date

CE FEATURES

ACTORS Vicky Kaushal, and Tripti Dimri's upcoming film is set to hit the theaters on February 23, 2024, the makers of the film announced on social media.

The film was previously slated for a theatrical release on August 25 this year. Directed by Anand Tiwari, the and yet-to-be titled project also stars singer-actor Ammy Virk and Neha Dhupia.

According to the makers, the project will be presented by Prime Video in association with Dharma Productions and Leo Media Collective. The plot and other details about the film are kept under wraps.

While the makers are yet to officially reveal the title of the film. However Neha used the name Mere Mehboob Mere Sanam in a photo from the film's wrap party last week, teasing the film's title. The upcoming film will mark Vicky Kaushal's second collaboration with Anand Tiwari after Love per Square Foot.

Director Srini Hanumantharaju highlights multiple firsts in Ambuja

Shubha Poonja

A still from the film

CE FEATURES

Ambuja marks the milestone of being Shubha Poonja's 50th film, while also serving as the silver screen debut for teleserial actor Rajini, who portrays the titular role. Director Srini Hanumantharaju, in conversation with CE, emphasises that the film brings forth a multitude of firsts as he gears up for its release on July 21. "Ambuja, a crime thriller, seamlessly blends elements of comedy, love, horror, thriller, suspense, and emotion, creating a unique cinematic experience, says the director, sharing a few noteworthy highlights about his film. "There is a heartwarming song where a daughter sings a lullaby to her mother. The film's cinematography by Muralidhar N showcases the magnificent Elephant Gate for the first time. Rajini's portrayal of the character involves wearing Lambani costumes weighing approximately 25 kg for certain scenes in Ambuja," says Srini, adding, "Shubha exhibits her versatility in triple roles, bringing out the best in each avatar."

Srini Hanumantharaju

Joining the cast of Ambuja are Deepak Subramanya, Padmaja Rao, Govinde Gowda, Baby Aakanksha, Jagadish Halakude, Sandesh Shetty, Nisha Hegde, Gurudev Nagaraj, and others. Kashinath D Madiwalar, the film's writer and producer, has not only crafted the storyline but has also taken on the task of penning the lyrics and playing a pivotal character.

The music for Ambuja is composed by Prasanna Kumar M S, with specially curated background music by Tyagaraj MS.

Biradar's film gets more screens in the second-week run

CE FEATURES

Veteran actor Biradar celebrates a milestone with his 500th film, 90 Bidi Maneg Nadi. The film has entered its second week in theatres across Karnataka and the director duo Nagaraj Arehole and Umesh Badaradinni, along with the entire team, are delighted by the positive audience response. "The film is doing well in parts of Mysuru and Davangere, and the number of shows has increased in various cities including Mandya, Hassan, Tumkur, Malavalli, Gundlupet, Shivamogga, Koppa, Kundapura, Baindur, Bhadravati, and Chitradurga. This week we have our film screening in 100 centres," says director Nagaraj Arehole considers this a significant achievement for Biradar's commercial lead debut. "The film's success can be attributed to the positive word-of-mouth and the story's focus on the repercussions of alcohol and drug addiction," he says. Alongside Biradar, the film has Neetha Maindargi and Kari Subbu playing notable characters.
